

BOROUGH MAY HAVE TO FIND NEW DUMP AREA

Gettysburg may have to replace its dump.

That was indicated today with a report that state health officials will meet Monday with borough council to discuss methods of disposing of garbage and waste and with the passage of a resolution by Cumberland Township's supervisors prohibiting dumping in that township.

At the same time it was noted that the need to replace the dump was not unanticipated. Councilmen have discussed the matter a number of times over the last several years.

Inspected Recently

The issue has been brought to a head by a report of state officials following an inspection of the present borough dump in Cumberland Twp. The inspection was part of a state-wide survey of all dumps.

As a health measure the state is opposing open dumps—such as the one maintained by Gettysburg. The local dump is also coming close to Rock Creek, and could in time cause contamination.

John A. Sheffer Jr., 340 Baltimore St., Adams County sanitarian, said today he and Thomas T. Lynch, regional sanitarian from the regional office of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, Lewistown, will meet with council at its session in the engine house Monday evening.

Will Outline Methods

Sheffer said they will outline methods of disposal of garbage acceptable to the state Department of Health. The methods include the

65 PHI DELTS WORKING TODAY AT ORPHANAGE

Sixty members and five pledges of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity of Gettysburg College today are tackling a spring clean-up at Hoffman's Orphanage with a pledge to bring the task to a conclusion by sundown. The members and pledges are donating their time as part of their Greek letter society's international community service day program.

Charles Bieler and John Shallook are the "work captains" for the student crews with Harvey Mumma, president of the local chapter, in general charge of the work.

While the Gettysburg Phi Delta are working at Hoffman's Orphanage, 8,000 other undergraduates in 113 other U. S. chapters of the fraternity and six in Canadian chapters are conducting similar work projects of a community service in their school areas.

The community service work days are held annually by the fraternity to "enable our young men to observe and take a share in the problems and aspirations of the American community into which they know their graduation will thrust them and with which we all look forward to their later participation with credit to themselves and the American spirit of free enterprise and unselfish civic cooperation," according to a statement by Dr. Paul R. Hawley, managing director of the American College of Surgeons who also heads the general offices of the national fraternity.

As part of the program the chapters which have the "most successful and most useful results from their day of community service work" will receive special awards from the international fraternity.

AUSTIN V. LAU, 85, VET LEADER, DIES

Ask Road Bids For Expressway

The state Highways Department Friday set April 26 for opening bids for construction of a six-mile expressway between the Gettysburg turnpike interchange and Dillsburg on the Gettysburg Pike (Route 15).

Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler said the dangerous Rosegarden underpass, scene of many accidents, would be eliminated by the project. A high-level four-lane bridge will span the Yellow Breeches Creek and the railroad tracks at Rosegarden, to replace both the underpass and the adjacent narrow creek bridge.

JAYCEE AWARDS PRESENTED AT ANNUAL DINNER

New officers of the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce were installed and awards for outstanding work during the last year presented at the annual "anniversary" banquet of the local Jaycees Friday evening at Lincoln Logs Motel.

Fred H. Attinger, associate county farm agent, who had served as treasurer for the last year, was presented the award as the "outstanding local officer."

Thomas Metz, who had headed the Pancake Festival committee last summer, was named as the outstanding committee chairman.

The "Key Man" award went to Magnus Flaws and Mark Gingrich was named as the "outstanding New Jaycee."

Seven "Spark Plugs"

The "Sparkplug" award given annually to those most active in the group went to Fred Attinger, Jack H. Bartlett, John Y. Crow, Harold Ecker, Magnus Flaws, Thomas Metz and Donald Becker. Awards for 100 per cent attendance went to Attinger, Bartlett, Richard Bruce, Crow, Floyd Currens, Flaws, Ecker, Metz, Becker and Edward Paris.

Donald Becker, as regional vice president, presented the local club with a "state award for second place in Halloween projects for the float constructed by the local Jaycees 'or Halloween. Retiring President Harold Ecker accepted the state award on behalf of the

WELFARE WEEK IS PROCLAIMED

Next week will be "Child Welfare Week" in Gettysburg according to a proclamation signed today by Burgess William G. Weaver.

High point of the week's observance will be the annual Child Welfare Services dinner to be held at the Church of the Brethren Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock at which Judge Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the Maryland State Department of Public Welfare, will be the speaker.

The annual award to a set of foster parents for meritorious service will be presented at that time and Robert J. McMullin, director of the Adams County Welfare Services, will give his annual report.

All interested persons are invited to the dinner. Reservations must be in the Child Welfare office at the courthouse by Tuesday evening, it was announced.

Burgess Weaver in his proclamation observed that: "The Adams County Child Welfare program under the direction of the County Commissioners of Adams County, aided by an advisory board composed of citizens of the county, is engaged in work of the utmost importance to the county of Adams and to all of its citizens in providing for the placement of children in foster homes and other services to neglected or dependent children and to families. . . the meritorious efforts of the county officials and those associated with this program are entitled to recognition by all citizens of the county."

Two Ship Convoys Move Through Suez Canal Today

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Two ship convoys were moving through the Suez Canal today, marking a major step toward resumption of normal operations in the 103-mile waterway.

A five-nation, nine-ship convoy which entered the canal yesterday from Suez at the southern end and resumed its voyage at dawn after being stalled by a severe sand storm.

Another five-ship convoy entered the canal today at Suez. They were the first to begin passage since the waterway was blocked during the October-November British, French and Israeli attacks on Egypt.

Some individual ships have transited the waterway since limited operation was resumed.

Both convoys entered the canal on strictly Egyptian terms, paying tolls to the nationalized Suez Canal Authority.

Nine Ships In Convoy

The nine ships—the largest among them only 7,000 tons—resumed their voyage after spending the night at the Great Bitter Lake near the canal's southern end. Four of the ships were Italian, two Russian, one Greek, one West German, and one Romanian.

Tonnage of the second smaller convoy ranged from 313 up to 6,213.

A U.N. salvage team planned to remove the last major obstruction from the canal Monday or Tuesday. It is the 1,481-ton Egyptian frigate Abukir, sunk near the southern entrance.

In Cairo, a source close to the Egyptian government said Egypt soon will announce it will accept

FIRST NEGRO TO HEAD HOWARD U. TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. Mordecai Wyatt Johnson, first negro president of Howard University, Washington, D. C., and the principal speaker on the student-faculty lectureship at the Gettysburg Lutheran Seminary next Tuesday, was born in Paris, Tenn., in 1890, the son of the Rev. Henry W. A. Hanson, president emeritus of Gettysburg College, included representatives of the Central Pennsylvania chapter of A.C.E.S. Prof. Milton L. Stokes, head of the department of economics at the college, was host to the meeting.

The three basic economic principles discussed were: The practicability of the guaranteed annual wage; Does big business tend to destroy small business? and, Automation, is it good or is it bad?

Discussion of the first question revealed guaranteed annual wages to be impractical because of the inability to team it with production and the rise and decline in demand for products with resultant unbalance of supply and demand, district and state bands. This spring she went to Atlantic City as a member of the Eastern Regional band.

The presentation of the Arion medal was made by Superintendent H. Edgar Riegle after Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ketterman, Steinwehr Ave. First girl to win the award, she had been in school bands since the eighth grade and has played in county, district and state bands. This spring she went to Atlantic City as a member of the Eastern Regional band.

President Walks His Farm With General

President Eisenhower came to his farm Friday afternoon to spend what he hopes will be a quiet weekend with Mrs. Eisenhower who has been here for two weeks with her mother, Mrs. John Doud. The President arrived shortly after 2 o'clock.

If the weather warmed up sufficiently the President planned to play some golf at the Gettysburg Country Club today but at 9 o'clock this morning the mercury was only up to 42.

After arriving at his farm Friday Mr. Eisenhower and General Arthur S. Nevins, his personal friend and farm supervisor, walked the acreage for more than half an hour. Again this morning the two friends walked around the farm, the President eager for the information General Nevins had for him about his stock.

K. of C. Council Will Observe 75th Birthday

Members of Gettysburg Council No. 2539 of the Knights of Columbus will observe the 75th anniversary of the founding of the order Sunday by receiving Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church Sunday morning. A memorial meeting will be held Sunday evening in the K. of C. rooms, Lincoln Square.

Dr. Joseph H. Riley, Grand Knight of the local council, said the origin of the organization is dated from March 29, 1882 when the Connecticut legislature approved a charter for the order as a fraternal protective insurance society. At that time there were fewer than 20 members in the group.

He added that observances similar to the one by the local council are being held this weekend by more than 3,900 councils with a membership of more than 1,000,000 in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Panama, Cuba and the Philippines.

Founded By Priests

The organization was begun by Rev. Michael J. McGivney, then a young curate at St. Mary's Catholic Church, New Haven, Conn. He organized a group of men concerned over the plight of families of Catholic men who had died in the community leaving little or no protection for their widows or children. Thus the first purpose of the order was to provide death benefits to help the families of deceased men of the parish, Dr. Riley said.

He added that "shortly" after the organization was founded it expanded its activities in the fields of social welfare, aid to religion, patriotic endeavor, civic activities, aid to education and similar projects.

Today, he said, the organization maintains its original function, with $650,000,000 insurance in force and has paid $120,000,000 in insurance benefits over the years.

Among educational activities of the Knights has been graduate scholarships at Catholic University, $1,000,000 trust fund for sons and daughters of Knights of Columbus killed or permanently disabled in

Giant Jet Bomber Explodes Into Flames Killing Two Men

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A giant B52 jet bomber, costing $8 million dollars, exploded in a "bright ball of flame" yesterday, killing two crew members as it crashed into a farm pasture about 15 miles north of here.

Two other crewmen parachuted to safety. Both were hospitalized, one of them in critical condition.

All were Boeing civilian employees on an experimental flight from Wichita, Kan. The dead were identified as: Ross B. Patrick, 37, pilot, Wichita, and John W. McCort, 32, navigator, Mulvane, Kan.

Charles P. Craven, 34, Wichita, co-pilot, suffered critical injury to the brain. Earl C. Reed, 30, Wichita, technical observer on the flight, had minor lacerations.

Debris rained over a two-square-mile area. The plane exploded only a half mile from Skiatook, a small northeastern Oklahoma community. The shock from the explosion blasted out half the store windows in downtown Skiatook and broke dishes in homes.

The craft is the Air Force's largest jet bomber and is powered by eight engines. The immense size of the plane caused many to believe originally that two planes had collided.

Jack Mitchell, public relations director for Boeing in Wichita, said: "We know nothing at this time about the possible cause of the explosion. A joint industry-Air Force team now is in Tulsa to thoroughly investigate the crash."

BOROUGH MAY HAVE TO FIND NEW DUMP AREA

Gettysburg may have to replace its dump.

That was indicated today with a report that state health officials will meet Monday with borough council to discuss methods of disposing of garbage and waste and with the passage of a resolution by Cumberland Township's supervisors prohibiting dumping in that township.

At the same time it was noted that the need to replace the dump was not anticipated. Councilmen have discussed the matter a number of times over the last several years.

Inspected Recently

The issue has been brought to a head by a report of state officials following an inspection of the present borough dump in Cumberland Twp. The inspection was part of a state-wide survey of all dumps.

As a health measure the state is opposing open dumps—such as the one maintained by Gettysburg. The local dump is also coming close to Rock Creek, and could in time cause contamination.

The members and pledges are donating their time as part of their Greek letter society's international community service day program.

Charles Bieler and John Shallock are the "work captains" for the student crews with Harvey Mumma, president of the local chapter, in general charge of the work.

While the Gettysburg Phi Delta are working at Hoffman's Orphanage 8,000 other undergraduates in 113 other U. S. chapters of the fraternity and six in Canadian chapters are conducting similar work projects of a community service in their school areas.

The community service work days are held annually by the fraternity to "enable our young men to observe and take a share in the problems and aspirations of the American community into which they know their graduation will thrust them and with which we all look forward to their later participation with credit to themselves and the American spirit of free enterprise and unselfish civic cooperation," according to a statement by Dr. Paul R. Hawley, managing director of the American College of Surgeons who also heads the general offices of the national fraternity.

As part of the program the chapters which have the "most successful and most useful results from their day of community service work" will receive special awards from the international fraternity.

Ask Road Bids For Expressway

The state Highways Department Friday set April 26 for opening bids for construction of a six-mile expressway between the Gettysburg turnpike interchange and Dillsburg on the Gettysburg Pike (Route 15).

Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler said the dangerous Rose-garden underpass, scene of many accidents, would be eliminated by the project. A high-level four-lane bridge will span the Yellow Breeches Creek and the railroad tracks at Rosegarden, to replace both the underpass and the adjacent narrow creek bridge.

JAYCEE AWARDS PRESENTED AT ANNUAL DINNER

New officers of the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce were installed and awards for outstanding work during the last year presented at the annual "anniversary" banquet of the local Jaycees Friday evening at Lincoln Logs Motel.

Fred H. Attinger, associate county farm agent, who had served as treasurer for the last year, was presented the award as the "outstanding local officer." Thomas Metz, who had headed the Pancake Festival committee last summer, was named as the outstanding committee chairman.

The "Key Man" award went to Magnus Flaws and Mark Gingrich was named as the "outstanding New Jaycee."

Seven "Spark Plugs"

The "Sparkplug" award given annually to those most active in the group went to Fred Attinger, Jack H. Bartlett, John Y. Crow, Harold Eckert, Magnus Flaws, Thomas Metz and Donald Becker.

Awards for 100 per cent attendance went to Attinger, Bartlett, Richard Bruce, Crow, Floyd Currens, Flaws, Eckert, Metz, Becker and Edward Paris.

Donald Becker, as regional vice president, presented the local club with a state award for second place in Halloween projects for the float constructed by the local Jaycees or Halloween. Retiring President Harold Eckert accepted the state award on behalf of the

WELFARE WEEK IS PROCLAIMED

Next week will be "Child Welfare Week" in Gettysburg according to a proclamation signed today by Burgess William G. Weaver.

High point of the week's observance will be the annual Child Welfare Services dinner to be held at the Church of the Brethren Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock at which Judge Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the Maryland State Department of Public Welfare, will be the speaker.

The annual award to a set of foster parents for meritorious service will be presented at that time and Robert J. McMullin, director of the Adams County Welfare Services, will give his annual report.

All interested persons are invited to the dinner. Reservations must be in the Child Welfare office at the courthouse by Tuesday evening, it was announced.

Burgess Weaver in his proclamation observed that: "The Adams County Child Welfare program under the direction of the County Commissioners of Adams County, aided by an advisory board composed of citizens of the county, is engaged in work of the utmost importance to the county of Adams and to all of its citizens in providing for the placement of children in foster homes and other services to neglected or dependent children and to families . . . the meritorious efforts of the county officials and those associated with this program are entitled to recognition by all citizens of the county."

Two Ship Convoys Move Through Suez Canal Today

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Two ship convoys were moving through the Suez Canal today, marking a major step toward resumption of normal operations in the 103-mile waterway.

A five-antenned, nine-ship convoy which entered the canal yesterday from Suez at the southern end resumed its voyage at dawn after being stalled by a severe sand storm.

Another five-ship convoy entered the canal today at Suez. They were the first to begin passage since the waterway was blocked during the October-November British, French and Israeli attacks on Egypt.

Some individual ships have transited the waterway since limited operation was resumed.

Both convoys entered the canal on strictly Egyptian terms, paying

Leatherman To Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Emmert Leatherman, Buford Ave., will observe their 45th wedding anniversary quietly on Sunday. They were married March 31, 1912, at the United Brethren parsonage in Biglerville. Mrs. Leatherman is the former Sadie Hershey.

Mr. Leatherman was employed by the Hershey Ice Cream Company from 1906 until 1918 and by the Gettysburg Ice and Storage from 1919 until 1944. For the last 13 years he has operated a refrigeration sales and service. They have one daughter who is employed in the office at the Warner Hospital.

ARION AWARD PRESENTED AT NIGHT OF MUSIC

Two hundred grade and high school musicians and majorettes took part in a two-hour program Friday evening at the Gettysburg High School auditorium where the music department of the public schools presented their sixth annual "Night of Music." Robert G. Zeigler directed before an audience of nearly 1,000 persons.

A highlight of the Senior Band's presentation of the program was the presentation of the annual Arion music award to Miss Carolyn Ketterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ketterman, Steinwehr Ave. First girl to win the award, she had been in school bands since the eighth grade and has played in county, district and state bands. This spring she went to Atlantic City as a member of the Eastern Regional band.

The presentation of the Arion medal was made by Superintendent H. Edgar Riegle after Miss Ketterman had directed the senior band in the "Tenth Regiment March." Philip Scott was another student director for the Senior Band Friday evening.

Majorette Routines

The program opened with eight selections by the Keefeauver Elementary School band after which the Junior High School Band played five numbers and the Junior High majorettes presented a routine. The Senior band played 12 numbers before the two school bands were combined for three final selections. In one of the numbers Jon Wagnild served as narrator; another featured Edward Nowicki as piano soloist and another, Sara Snyder on the chimes. Senior high majorettes performed before the bands were combined for the finale.

Taking part in the "Night of Music" were:

Keefeauver Elementary Band
Flutes, Jane Eker, Donald Koozts and Linda Stener.

CUB PACK 78 IS PRESENTED HONOR PLAQUE

Cub Pack 78 of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church was presented with an "Honor Unit" plaque by the York-Adams Boy Scout Council at a pack meeting Friday evening in Xavier Hall. The award was for activities of the group during the last year.

Three of the members received advancement awards at a ceremony in which their parents participated. They were Philip Frazer, who received the Bear Award, and Michael Woodward and Thomas Sneeringer, who were presented the Wolf Award. James Sneeringer, of the committee, presented Cubmaster Julian Estep with cuff links and a tie clasp as a gift from the Cubs for his "outstanding service to the unit during the year."

Address Scouts

Charles Hawley, Fayetteville, advisor for Explorer Post 134, the all-Eagle Scout unit which served in the Presidential inauguration, appeared in Indian costume and spoke on Indian customs to the 50 Cubs and parents present.

Hawley described and displayed headaddresses, articles of clothing and "medicine bags," etc., worn by the Indians and outlined the variations in costume between tribes.

In keeping with the Indian theme for the meeting, each den presented an Indian program. All of the Cubs wore Indian costumes, complete with feathers and "war paint." The units presenting skits and dances were Den 1, Mrs. John Rummel, den mother; Den 2, Mrs. James Sneeringer, den mother; Den 3, Mrs. Lawrence Eckert, den mother; Den 4, Mrs. Donald Fazenbaker and Mrs. James Treas, den mother; Den 5, Mrs. Gordon Adair, den mother; Den 6, Mrs. Bernard Frazer and Mrs. Peterson, den mothers.

Robert M. Roth was enrolled as a new member of the pack and was assigned to Den 5.

PANEL REVEALS PAY GUARANTEE NOT PRACTICAL

The American competitive enterprise system, the story of American business and industrial greatness, was given thorough examination by students of the economics department of Gettysburg College and a panel of six business and industrial leaders of Harrisburg in the SOA building Friday evening.

The panel, moderated by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president emeritus of Gettysburg College, included representatives of the Central Pennsylvania chapter of ACES, Prof. Milton L. Stokes, head of the department of economics at the college, was host to the meeting.

The three basic economic principles discussed were: The practicability of the guaranteed annual wage; Does big business tend to destroy small business? and, Automation, is it good or is it bad?

Discussion of the first question revealed guaranteed annual wages to be impractical because of the inability to team it with production and the rise and decline in demand for products with resultant unbalance of supply and unrealistic costs that would be certain to increase the cost of goods to the consumer.

Small Business Appeal

High costs and high taxes, and not big business, are the enemies of small business, the discussion of that subject revealed. In this connection it was noted that giant industries sublet much of their parts manufacture to small industry and that small business has much appeal and much to offer the consumer.

The difficulty confronting small business is the inability in the face of high operating costs and heavy taxes to retain sufficient of its earnings to provide the capital needed to replace equipment and to expand.

Automation proved to be a subject of absorbing interest. Although it is treated as something new, it

K. OF C. COUNCIL WILL OBSERVE 75TH BIRTHDAY

Members of Gettysburg Council No. 2539 of the Knights of Columbus will observe the 75th anniversary of the founding of the order Sunday by receiving Communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church Sunday morning. A memorial meeting will be held Sunday evening in the K of C rooms, Lincoln Square.

Dr. Joseph H. Riley, Grand Knight of the local council, said the origin of the organization is dated from March 29, 1882 when the Connecticut legislature approved a charter for the order as a fraternal protective insurance society. At that time there were fewer than 20 members in the group.

He added that observances similar to the one by the local council are being held this weekend by more than 3,900 councils with a membership of more than 1,000,000 in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico, Panama, Cuba and the Philippines.

Founded By Priests

The organization was begun by Rev. Michael J. McGivney, then a young curate at St. Mary's Catholic Church, New Haven, Conn. He organized a group of men concerned over the plight of families of Catholic men who had died in the community leaving little or no protection for their widows or children. Thus the first purpose of the order was to provide death benefits to help the families of deceased men of the parish, Dr. Riley said.

He added that "shortly after the organization was founded it expanded its activities in the fields of social welfare, aid to religion, patriotic endeavor, civic activities, aid to education and similar projects."

Today, he said, the organization maintains its original function, with $650,000,000 insurance in force and has paid $120,000,000 in insurance benefits over the years.

President Walks His Farm With General

President Eisenhower came to his farm Friday afternoon to spend what he hopes will be a quiet weekend with Mrs. Eisenhower who has been here for two weeks with her mother, Mrs. John Doud. The President arrived shortly after 2 o'clock.

If the weather warmed up sufficiently the President planned to play some golf at the Gettysburg Country Club today but at 9 o'clock this morning the mercury was only up to 42.

After arriving at his farm Friday Mr. Eisenhower and General Arthur S. Nevins, his personal friend and farm supervisor, walked the acreage for more than half an hour. Again this morning the two friends walked around the farm, the President eager for the information General Nevins had for him about his stock.

Benefit Game Of Donkey Baseball

The Fairfield Lions will meet students of Fairfield High School in a donkey basketball game Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Fairfield High School gymnasium to raise money for the Lions' charity fund.

William Newman, chairman of the Lions club's donkey cagers, announced as the players for his squad: Wilbur Sites, Charles "Jim" Lott, William Shultz, George Webb, Harold Dearthoff, Glenn Herring and Kenneth Sanders. There were no reports as yet from the high school students as to their selections for the contest. According to reports the team of the students will be determined following a practice.

BURY MRS. SPANGLER

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie M. Spangler, 70, 114 W. Middle St., who died Thursday morning following a heart attack, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bender Funeral Home with her pastor, the Rev. Dr. H. S. Fox, officiating. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery. The pallbearers were Aaron Kessel, Guy Gordon, Crawford Witherell, Richard Gordon, Isaac Boyd and Paul Reaver.

Mervin U. Bream, 72, of 310 N. Stratton St., and Mrs. Myrtle K. Otto, Shamokin, were both fatally injured when their cars collided one mile south of Dillsburg on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd. at 6:45 o'clock Friday evening.

Mr. Bream, oldest Reading Railroad engineer, was killed instantly. Mrs. Otto, who was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, P. Waldo Otto, 63, Shamokin, which collided with the Bream car, died at the Harrisburg Hospital at 12:55 o'clock this morning.

Dr. R. Z. Brentz, Dillsburg, pronounced Mr. Bream dead at the scene of the accident. York County Coroner Philip R. Ness said Mr. Bream's death was caused by compound fractures of both legs, crushed chest, broken jaw, fracture of the skull, fractured left arm and cuts of the face and body.

Husband Is Critical

Mrs. Otto's death was caused by a fracture of the pelvis, fracture of the skull, broken right arm and a broken left hip.

State Trooper C. L. Conapitski, of Harrisburg, who investigated the accident, said it occurred in the center lane of the three-lane highway near Dillsburg, in Carroll Twp., York County. Mr. Bream's car, a 1950 Plymouth, was demolished. Damage to the Otto Cadillac was estimated at $2,500. The entire front end of that vehicle was smashed.

Trooper Conapitski said this morning that he has not as yet completed his investigation but from the position of the cars believes both the drivers were attempting to pass other vehicles when they collided.

Ready For Retirement

Mr. Bream, a Reading Railroad employe for the last 53 years, had completed his regular run as an engineer from Gettysburg to Harrisburg and was driving south, enroute home from his work when the accident occurred. Mr. and Mrs. Otto were traveling north after visiting a daughter, Mrs. Robert Monte, at Newburn, N. C.

Mr. Bream was scheduled to retire in December as an engineer. He had been engineer on the last passenger train out of Gettysburg about 10 years ago and had engineered freight trains since that time between Gettysburg and Harrisburg.

Funeral On Tuesday

Survivors include his wife, the former Elizabeth Rieff; a daughter, Mrs. Coetta Bream Chalker, Westminster, and two grandchildren.

He was a member of St. James Lutheran Church, and of Perseverance Lodge No. 21, Free and Accepted Masons, the Harrisburg Consistory and the Zumbo Temple of the Shrine. He was also a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Peters Funeral Home, Carlisle St., with his pastor the Rev. Paul L. Reaser, officiating. Interment in Evergreen Cemetery where Masonic graveside rites will be conducted.

Friends may call Monday evening from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

A native of Adams County, born near Biglerville December 18, 1885, he was a son of the late John M. and Emma (Gardner) Bream. He had resided in Gettysburg for the last 29 years.

CATHOLICS TO USE CAR POOLS FOR STUDENTS

ST. MARYS, Pa. (AP) — Catholic parents in nearby Benzinger Twp. say they will send their children to this Elk County community's parochial schools in car pools.

This method of transporting Catholic pupils to schools was decided last night by a majority of 200 parents attending a meeting. The pools will start Monday and continue through the end of the term.

At a meeting, Monday, the parents indicated they might enroll their children in St. Mary's public schools, already overcrowded, if they were not furnished bus transportation.

The controversy began with an announcement by Deutsch Bus Co. that it would discontinue carrying Catholic school pupils April 1.

Firm Not Paid

A Deutsch spokesman said the firm had not received any money from the church for transporting the parochial school pupils. He said Benzinger Twp. has been paying two-thirds the cost of bus transportation for all pupils.

State Supreme Court ruled last year that under the present school code parochial school pupils are not entitled to transportation at public expense.

State Rep. William F. Renwick (D-Elk) said he will introduce in the General Assembly next Monday a bill to provide free bus transportation for all public and private school pupils.

$50,000 BLAZE

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Damage estimated at $50,000 was caused to a barn on the farm of William J. Noble, Douglassville R. 1, when fire swept the structure.

The barn contained large stocks of hay and grain and farm machinery.

Fire company officials said the fire apparently started in the stable section but it was not de-

UNION MERGER POSES PROBLEM

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The AFL Pennsylvania Federation of Labor yesterday closed on a conflicting note what may have been its last convention.

Under the national AFL-CIO merger agreement, all state and local AFL and CIO groups must merge by Dec. 5, 1957.

Joseph A. McDonough, PFL president, told delegates a plan for merger with the CIO Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council may be ready for ratification this summer.

But Scott R. Marshall, secretary-treasurer of Local 248 of the Teamsters Union in Pittsburgh said the PFL should not surrender its control as the dominant union organization in Pennsylvania.

Marshall said he was not of the opinion that this may have been the PFL's last convention. Without mentioning the CIO, by name, Marshall asserted he does not want to see the PFL go into other hands.

Ezio Pinza Hopes For Acting Roles

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Ezio Pinza, who suffered two heart attacks last year, says he hopes to start working again in the fall — but not at singing.

The operatic basso who starred in the hit musical "South Pacific" and "Fanny" told reporters last night he just wants to act.

"I hope to do some work on the stage or television," he said. "I would like to do short television films."

He said, however, he had signed no contracts as yet.

Pinza suffered what was described by his doctors as a coronary occlusion at his home here Dec. 3. In August he suffered an attack at his summer home in Cervia, Italy.

He terminated what touched it off. Some of the machinery, an automobile and 90 head of cattle were removed in time. Damage was estimated by Noble.

START TALKS ON EGYPT'S PLANS FOR SUEZ CANAL

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has started consultations with Britain, France and several other friendly governments on Egyptian proposals for operating the Suez Canal.

An American reply is expected to be sent to Egypt in a few days.

Top officials who have been studying the Egyptian plan say privately they do not like it, but that they see no prospect now of winning Egyptian agreement to any counter-proposal.

Has Toll Proposal

However, it is yet to be decided whether the plan will be accepted or rejected, or whether some modifications will be sought to make it more palatable to Western shipping nations.

The Egyptian proposal, which has not yet been made public officially, is understood to call for collection of tolls by the Egyptian Canal Authority.

Egypt would set aside 25 per cent of the tolls for maintenance and operation and 5 per cent to compensate stockholders of the old Suez Canal Co.

Egypt also would reaffirm its commitment to an 1888 treaty guaranteeing free canal passage for all ships. Some provision is reported for appeals and arbitration procedures for any country which thought its shipping was being unfairly treated.

The Western powers had wanted to pay the tolls to some "neutral" agency, like the World Bank or United Nations, which would hold 50 per cent of the toll money pending a final settlement of the canal question.

For the long range, the major Western shipping nations, including the United States, Britain and France, have been hoping to get Egypt's agreement to a plan which would "insulate" the operations of the canal from Egyptian politics.

In essence, they wanted to deny

Flat Tire Causes Trouble On Freeway

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Edgar stopped to fix a flat tire on the Eastshore Freeway.

Another motorist stopped to offer aid. And another. A fourth motorist hit the third, then careened across the dividing strip into an approaching car.

Before it was over eight private automobiles, a police car and a police motorcycle were involved. Gas from a rammed tank set two cars afire. Two men were pulled from the flaming cars.

Patrolman Charles H. Atkinson, 36, hurrying to the scene, skidded on a turn, was thrown, cut and bruised.

After untangling the mess, police issued two tickets—for speeding.

Service, Not Profit, Makes Good Doctor

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "No man or woman should enter the profession of medicine solely to make a living," the president-elect of the American Medical Assn. said last night.

Dr. David B. Altman, Atlantic City, N.J., told students at the Jefferson Medical College:

"It is service, not profit, that makes a good doctor. . . . All other approaches, like materialism or self-aggrandizement, lead away from the ideal of good medicine."

Bear On Bench Raises A Problem

DALLAS (AP) — Judge Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls wants to know if his sprouting whiskers would violate court decorum when he sits in for a sick judge here next week.

Purcell asked District Court officials to rule on the matter. He said he has been growing a beard for the diamond jubilee celebration in Wichita Falls in May.

Court attaches took the problem under advisement.

Moth Balls Chase Skunks From School

PORTALES, N.M., (AP) — Vic Stout, rural school supervisor, says Mrs. George Bonal, operator of a motel at Ruidoso, read about the trouble a school at Dora was having with skunks under the floor.

Mrs. Bonal suggested scattering several pounds of moth balls under the floor and through the building.

The skunks, overpowered, left. Mrs. Bonal's suggestion didn't include how to get rid of the moth ball odor.

Nearly half of New York State's 30 million acres are covered by forests.

DUO PIANISTS HERE ON SUNDAY

The fourth in a series of programs of the Gettysburg College Spring Music Festival will be presented by Mrs. Mildred Deery and Mrs. Marlene Paugh, duo pianists, in Bruna Lounge, Sunday, at 8:30 p.m. The public is invited.

For the first part of the program the pianists will present "Fugue in D Minor," Bach; "Allegro from Sonata in D Major," Mozart; "Fantasia Op. 103," Schubert and "Round Dance," Jensen. The second part will include numbers from the "Ballet from Petite Suite," Debussy-Busser; "Chanson" and "Mazurka," Giller; "Romance from Suite No. 2," Rachmaninoff and "Caprice Viennois," Kreisler-Miller.

The last part of the concert will include the "Jamaican Street Song," Benjamin; "Memories of Childhood," Pinto, which includes such numbers as "Run, Run," "Ring Around the Rosy," "March Little Soldier," "Sleeping Time" and "Hobby Horse." The pianists will conclude the concert with "Prelude No. 2," Gershwin; "Sussex Milkmaids," Thilman, and "Wonderful Guy" from "South Pacific," Rogers-Whitmore-Loewy.

Both Mrs. Paugh and Mrs. Deery presented a concert at the college last spring. Mrs. Paugh, who comes from Spring City, Pa., studied at the Chicago Conservatory of Music and has presented a number of concerts along with Mrs. Deery who lives in Royersford, Pa.

Mrs. Paugh is the mother of Mrs. Helen Paugh Bollinger, wife of Donald Bollinger, Gettysburg, a graduate of the college with the class of 1954.

K. OF C. COUNCIL

World War II and the Korean War, and a program begun in 1951 under which the historic documents in the Vatican are being microfilmed. They will be placed in the Pius XII Memorial Library at St. Louis University, for use by American scholars. So far more than 800,000 feet of film containing nearly 10,000,000 handwritten pages have been turned over to the library at St. Louis.

For the last 30 years the K. of C. has provided and operated playgrounds in Rome. In the U.S. most councils conduct a youth program. Among its religious activities has been an advertising program which so far has drawn 2,500,000 responses from persons interested in obtaining information about the Catholic Church.

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, program chairman for the local Knights, said much of Sunday evening's program will be devoted to details of the work of the "K" of C. during the last 75 years.

CRITICIZE S. S. SPEED WITH IKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Or.) today criticized what he termed "evident disregard of the speed laws and elemental traffic safety" during President Eisenhower's drive to Gettysburg, Pa., yesterday.

Neuberger's comment was made in an interview after reporters accompanying the President said Eisenhower was driven to his Gettysburg farm at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. The car was driven by a Secret Service man.

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said that was "too fast for anybody." He said in a separate interview that perhaps Eisenhower should "take to the air, where there is less traffic."

Goldwater said he felt Eisenhower must have had some pressing reason for wanting to get to Gettysburg in a hurry. Otherwise, he said the President ought to observe the speed laws.

Press Is Blocked

Eisenhower made the 80 mile trip in 1 1/4 hours, with his car slowing only for an occasional dip in the road or a railroad track. Reporters, in separate cars were left behind when they were flagged down to the 55 mile speed limit by a Montgomery County, Md., police car. No arrests were made.

When the squad car turned back at the county line, newsman had to drive 95 to 100 miles an hour to catch up with the President. They are assigned to keep him in sight at all times.

Neuberger said such speed by the presidential car was "ironic" since he said billboards are spread across the country bearing Eisenhower's picture and an appeal to motorists to drive safely.

Eisenhower went to his farm for a weekend of rest and relaxation.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department Friday announced a complete clearance for Ellis N. Slack, 57-year-old department attorney who was suspended from duty and investigated in connection with alleged tax scandals.

The department said "administrative charges" against Slack in connection with the handling of tax prosecutions during the Truman administration have been dismissed and that he was restored to duty, effective this morning.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Welfare Forum Friday re-elected Hugh G. Pyle, State College, as president for another year.

Also re-elected were: Robert P. Wray, deputy secretary of public assistance, treasurer, and Lowell E. Wright, Norrisstown, vice president.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) today urged the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) to throw out any Communist who might slip into the organization of self-styled "liberals."

Douglas, in a keynote speech prepared for ADA's 10th anniversary convention, said a pledge of non-membership in the Communist party or in any totalitarian organization is still a basic qualification for belonging to the ADA. He voiced confidence that "we will not relax our vigilance" against any Red interlopers.

"CALL ON HIM"

When so-called friends forsake you . . . and trouble blocks your road . . . do not despair for there is One . . . to help you bear the load . . . He lingers deep inside you . . . and answers when you call . . . with love and sincere tenderness . . . which matters most of all . . . He gives you strength to journey . . . and faith to follow through . . . a spark of hope when hope is gone . . . as onward you pursue . . . He makes the sun shine brightly . . . when skies above are gray . . . and all He asks for in return . . . is that you truly pray . . . all men to Him are equal . . . He loves both rich and poor . . . and if you place your trust in Him . . . somehow you will endure . . . for God is good and kind and just . . . so when you need a Friend . . . call on Him and He will stand . . . beside you till the end.

108 CHILDREN REGISTER FOR FIRST GRADE

One hundred and eight children, 52 girls and 56 boys, were registered to enter the first grade of the Littlestown Joint School System next fall. Registration was conducted on Thursday and Friday at the Rolling Acres Elementary School by the elementary principal, John H. Riley; school nurse, Mrs. Brenda B. Walker, and first grade teachers, Mrs. Gertrude Knouse, Mrs. Naomi C. Schwartz, Mrs. Maria L. Seiwel and Mrs. Martha Kneckle.

Children who should have been registered at this time and were unable to be at the school should now be registered by appointment with the principal, Mr. Riley, by calling 389.

Legion Meets

Two guests were present at the meeting of Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, on Thursday evening at the post home, E. King St. They were District Vice Commander Richard L. Fox and Vice Commander John A. Guise, of the Albert J. Lentz Post, Gettysburg. Commander Donald L. Beford presided conducting the opening ceremonies, and introduced the guests. Vice Commander Fox spoke briefly to the Legionnaires.

Edwin A. Sell reported for the ceremonial detail committee and also was wearing a firing squad uniform, for display to the post. Mr. Sell introduced a representative from a uniform company, who also met with the prospective members of the firing squad. The post deferred ordering the uniforms until a portion of the funds for their purchase can be raised.

Adjutant Paul E. Altkoff reported, and was instructed to notify the members who are delinquent in the payment of their dues. There was a report from the committee in charge of conducting the recent broom sale. Anyone desiring to purchase a broom or whisk broom is asked to call a Legionnaire. It was announced that the next meeting of the 22nd District will be held in Waynesboro on Sunday afternoon, April 7, 2:30 p.m., when the annual "Back To God" meeting will be held. The district commander is arranging the program. Legionnaires and their families are invited to attend. The local post will meet again on Thursday, April 11, 8 p.m.

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — John Peters has purchased the Walter Books farm which joins his own land. Mr. Books is employed in Carlisle. He will vacate the house.

George Fahnestock has moved from the Harold Davis property, near Gardner's church, to the Mummet property next to the fire house in Dillsburg, which he had purchased.

The regular meeting of the York Springs Fire Company was held Tuesday night with approximately 20 members present. The president, Albert Townsend, presided. Among the items of business discussed was the making plans for a public ham supper which will be held either April 27 or May 4. The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Fire Company was not held.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Finnisey and children if Aberdeen, Md., were recent visitors at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Amos D. Meyers and children.

A band of gypsies, at least 12 house trailers, went through York Springs on Wednesday. They were going north. A local blacksmith recalled when he would repair their wagons as they went through here. He stated that some of the wagons had lace curtains and were handsomely decorated.

Mrs. Amos D. Meyers, Mrs. Ada Boreland, Mrs. Susan Feeley, Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. Elmer Coulson attended the WSCS meeting in the New Oxford Methodist Church on Thursday night.

following nominating committee was appointed to prepare a slate of officers for election at the next meeting: Mrs. Maurice C. Wareheim, Mrs. Alverta Feaser and Mrs. Cleason Plunkert. Mrs. Kammerer showed slide pictures on a trip to the Holy Land.

Guest packages, given by Mrs. Kammerer, Mrs. Edgar Pfeffer, Mrs. Cleason Plunkert and Mrs. John Feaser, were won by Mrs. Edward Plunkert, Mrs. Irvin Kindig, Mrs. Kammerer and Mrs. William Feaser. # PANEL REVEALS was pointed out that automation under another name, came with the industrial age. The goal of automation is to lower costs and while it saves labor, it was pointed out it does not create unemployment. Rather, it is creating a higher standard of living and increasing employment even though it creates some dislocations in some lines of business.

Creates New Lines

Automation, it was explained, is in itself creating new lines of industry. Describing the natural resources such as gas and oil as embracing the elements of automation and causing the exodus of young people out of the coal regions, it was pointed out that these people are entering industry and that the coal regions are attracting factories that are providing employment for the former miners. The exodus of textile and shoe manufacturing from the New England states has brought electronics and machine tooling into that area, both products of automation.

The panel held that automation is a boon to labor and to the entire country. Without automation, it was said, the population estimated for 1975 would not produce a labor force capable of maintaining the standard of living anticipated for that time. An example used in this connection was that without the automatic telephone dial system there is not now enough women between the ages of 18 and 45 to maintain the present telephone traffic in this country.

While it is generally considered that automation has reduced the work week, it was pointed out that automation has been forced by the reduction in production through shorter hours. Actually, automation greatly speeds production since it is a continuous production process in which every intermittent process is joined together, carefully measured and controlled, panelists said. However, it does not produce much more.

Students Raise Questions

The questions of the students, following the panel program, reflected favorably the standard of the college's economics department and the knowledge of and the interest in the subject by the students.

In addition to the subjects discussed by the panel, these followed along the line of inflation, tight money, continuous increase in wages, reasons for depressions, the exodus of industry from Pennsylvania because of tax laws and business failures.

The tax advantages offered in other areas are of short duration and it was explained that many industries are returning to Pennsylvania and many areas are diversifying their economy and employment opportunities through attracting new industries.

Answering the statement by one student that initiative appears to be disappearing and that the emphasis of youth is on security rather than opportunity, the panel members held that there is a trend away from security among students and among young people in industry.

Asked if ACES advocated amendment and abolishment of labor laws and legislation regulating commerce, the panel gave emphasis to the charter of the organization that it cannot and does not engage in lobbying.

ACES, it was said, recognizes there is an almost revolutionary change in the relationship of the individual and government. Welfare programs involve more rather than less government and it is the pur-committee headed by Paul Weaver which had constructed the float.

Officers Installed

Officers installed were Magnus Flaws Jr., as president; Richard E. Bruce, internal vice president; Fred H. Attinger, external vice president; Mark Gingrich, secretary; Edward Parla, treasurer; Donald Becker, Floyd Curran, Thomas Metz, John Y. Crow Robert Weiland and Harold Ecker, members of the board.

Fred Attinger was installed as the chairman of the board of directors, a post to which he was elected by vote of the officers and directors following the election meeting Thursday evening.

Following his installation Flaws asked the group to "set as your goal the making of the Gettysburg Junior Chamber of Commerce the outstanding Jaycee unit in the state."

State President Speaks

The past president's pin was presented to retiring president, Harold Ecker.

Grover Gouker, Hanover, was the master of ceremonies for the program. Samuel Meisenhelder, York state Jaycee president, was the speaker.

Meisenhelder told the group: "Men are divided into three types. The third kind are citizens who take the attitude that the world owes them a living, they are the gangsters, the criminals. The second class adopts and a live and let live attitude. They do a dollar's worth of work for a dollar's pay and no more. The first class citizen adopts as his philosophy the idea that he is his brother's keeper and thus becomes a bonus citizen, the ones who have ambition and vision and a sense of responsibility as a citizen to pitch in and help make this a better world. I know you all want to be first class citizens."

Dancing After Banquet

President Meisenhelder was presented with a number of gifts from club members including a chrome plated coil from Richard Bruce, manager of Inductive Equipment here; a marble paperweight from Mark Gingrich, of the Gettysburg Monumental Works, and a gallon of Delvate ice cream a month from John Crow.

Dancing followed the ladies' night banquet.

LONDON (AP) — The Marquess of Salisbury's resignation protesting release of Greek-Cypriot Archbishop Makarios focussed attention today on a cabinet rift over the government's handling of the explosive Cyprus issue.

The announcement that Salisbury had quit his cabinet post as leader of government forces in the House of Lords came last night. Prime Minister Macmillan's office reported that Queen Elizabeth II had accepted his resignation as Lord President of the Council.

"CALL ON HIM"

When so-called friends forsake you . . . and trouble blocks your road . . . do not despair for there is One . . . He lingers deep inside you . . . and answers when you call . . . with love and sincere tenderness . . . which matters most of all . . . He gives you strength to follow through . . . a spark of hope when hope is gone . . . as onward you pursue . . . He makes the sun shine brightly . . . when skies above are gray . . . and all He asks for in return . . . is that you truly pray . . . all men to Him are equal . . . He loves both rich and poor . . . and if you place your trust in Him . . . somehow you will endure . . . for God is good and kind and just . . . so when you need a friend . . . call on Him and He will stand . . . beside you till the end.

REGISTER FOR FIRST GRADE

One hundred and eight children, 52 girls and 56 boys, were registered to enter the first grade of the Littlestown Joint School System next fall. Registration was conducted on Thursday and Friday at the Rolling Acres Elementary School by the elementary principal, John H. Riley; school nurse, Mrs. Brenda B. Walker, and first grade teachers, Mrs. Gertrude Knouse, Mrs. Naomi C. Schwartz, Mrs. Maria L. Seiwel and Mrs. Martha Kneekle.

Children who should have been registered at this time and were unable to be at the school should now be registered by appointment with the principal, Mr. Riley, by calling 369.

Legion Meets

Two guests were present at the meeting of Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, on Thursday evening at the post home, E. King St. They were District Vice Commander Richard L. Fox and Vice Commander John A. Guise, of the Albert J. Lentz Post, Gettysburg. Commander Donald L. Bedford presided conducting the opening ceremonies, and introduced the guests. Vice Commander Fox spoke briefly to the Legionnaires.

Edwin A. Sell reported for the ceremonial detail committee and also was wearing a firing squad uniform, for display to the post. Mr. Sell introduced a representative from a uniform company, who also met with the prospective members of the firing squad. The post deferred ordering the uniforms until a portion of the funds for their purchase can be raised.

Adjutant Paul E. Altoff reported, and was instructed to notify the members who are delinquent in the payment of their dues. There was a report from the committee in charge of conducting the recent broom sale. Anyone desiring to purchase a broom or whisk broom is asked to call a Legionnaire. It was announced that the next meeting of the 22nd District will be held in Waynesboro on Sunday afternoon, April 7, 2:30 p.m., when the annual "Back To God" meeting will be held. The district commander is arranging the program. Legionnaires and their families are invited to attend. The local post will meet again on Thursday, April 11, 8 p.m.

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS — John Peters has purchased the Walter Books farm which joins his own land. Mr. Books is employed in Carlisle. He will vacate the house.

George Fahnstock has moved from the Harold Davis property, near Gardner's church, to the Mummet property next to the fire house in Dillsburg, which he had purchased.

The regular meeting of the York Springs Fire Company was held Tuesday night with approximately 20 members present. The president, Albert Townsend, presided. Among the items of business discussed was the making plans for a public ham supper which will be held either April 27 or May 4. The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Fire Company was not held.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Finnisey and children of Aberdeen, Md., were recent visitors at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Amos D. Meyers and children.

A band of gypsies, at least 12 house trailers, went through York Springs on Wednesday. They were going north. A local blacksmith repaired when he would repair their wagons as they went through here. He stated that some of the wagons had lace curtains and were handsomely decorated.

Mrs. Amos D. Meyers, Mrs. Ada Boreland, Mrs. Susan Feeley, Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. Elmer Coulson attended the WSCS meeting in the New Oxford Methodist Church on Thursday night.

following nominating committee was appointed to prepare a slate of officers for election at the next meeting: Mrs. Maurice C. Wareheim, Mrs. Alverta Feaser and Mrs. Cleason Plunkert. Mrs. Kammerer showed slide pictures on a trip to the Holy Land.

Guest packages, given by Mrs. Kammerer, Mrs. Edgar Pfeiffer, Mrs. Cleason Plunkert and Mrs. John Feaser, were won by Mrs. Edward Plunkert, Mrs. Irvin Kindig, Mrs. Kammerer and Mrs. William Feaser. The following will serve as hostesses at the next meeting on Thursday, April 25, at the church, Miss Rose V. Barker, Mrs. George DeGroot and Mrs. Ralph DeHoff. During the social hour, refreshments were served by Mrs. Plunkert, Mrs. William Feaser and Mrs. Ernest R. Sentz.

The Alloways Homemakers will meet on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clarence Shultz, Taneytown, R. D., at 7:30 p.m. A demonstration will be given on the use of cosmetics.

PANEL REVEALS

Automation, it was explained, is not creating new lines of industry. Describing the natural resources such as gas and oil as embracing the elements of automation and causing the exodus of young people out of the coal regions, it was pointed out that these people are entering industry and that the coal regions are attracting factories that are providing employment for the former miners. The exodus of textile and shoe manufacturing from the New England states has brought electronics and machine tooling into that area, both products of automation.

Creates New Lines
Automation, it was explained, is not creating new lines of industry. Describing the natural resources such as gas and oil as embracing the elements of automation and causing the exodus of young people out of the coal regions, it was pointed out that these people are entering industry and that the coal regions are attracting factories that are providing employment for the former miners. The exodus of textile and shoe manufacturing from the New England states has brought electronics and machine tooling into that area, both products of automation.

The panel held that automation is a boon to labor and to the entire country. Without automation, it was said, the population estimated for 1975 would not produce a labor force capable of maintaining the standard of living anticipated for that time. An example used in this connection was that without the automatic telephone dial system there is not now enough women between the ages of 18 and 45 to maintain the present telephone traffic in this country.

While it is generally considered that automation has reduced the work week, it was pointed out that automation has been forced by the reduction in production through shorter hours. Actually, automation greatly speeds production since it is a continuous production process in which every intermittent process is joined together, carefully measured and controlled, panelists said. However, it does not produce much more.

Students Raise Questions
The questions of the students, following the panel program, reflected favorably the standard of the college's economics department and the knowledge of and the interest in the subject by the students. In addition to the subjects discussed by the panel, these followed along the line of inflation, tight money, continuous increase in wages, reasons for depressions, the exodus of industry from Pennsylvania because of tax laws and business failures.

The tax advantages offered in other areas are of short duration and it was explained that many industries are returning to Pennsylvania and many areas are diversifying their economy and employment opportunities through attracting new industries.

Answering the statement by one student that initiative appears to be disappearing and that the emphasis of youth is on security rather than opportunity, the panel members held that there is a trend away from security among students and among young people in industry.

Asked if ACES advocated amendment and abolishment of labor laws and legislation regulating commerce, the panel gave emphasis to the charter of the organization that it cannot and does not engage in lobbying.

ACES, it was said, recognizes there is an almost revolutionary change in the relationship of the individual and government. Welfare programs involve more rather than less government and it is the purposes of ACES to alert people to the dangers of government intrusion into individual lives and to stimulate individual thinking. A dinner in Huber Hall preceded the panel discussion.

Dr. Hanson Moderator
Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president-emeritus of the college, was the moderator. Members of the panel were: James E. Brucklacher, president of the Cumberland County National Bank and Trust Company; James E. Doran, editor of the Patriot-News, Harrisburg; George Ruschhaupt, general commercial manager in the central area for the Bell Telephone Company; William E. Schiller, vice president and treasurer of the Hershey Chocolate Corporation; Lt. Gen. Edward J. Stackpole, president of the Telegraph Press, Harrisburg, and author of "They Met At Gettysburg" which is now in its third printing, and Edgar Z. Wallower, Harrisburg, partner in Rutter & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange.

DUO PIANISTS HERE ON SUNDAY

The fourth in a series of programs of the Gettysburg College Spring Music Festival will be presented by Mrs. Mildred Deery and Mrs. Marion Paugh, duo pianists, in Brda Lounge, Sunday, at 8:30 p.m. The public is invited.

For the first part of the program the pianists will present "Fugue in D Minor," Bach; "Allegro from Sonata in D Major," Mozart; "Fantasia Op. 103," Schubert and "Round Dance," Jensen. The second part will include numbers from the "Ballet from Petite Suite," Debussy-Busser; "Chanson" and "Mazurka," Giliere; "Romance from Suite No. 2," Rachmaninoff and "Caprice Viennois," Kreisler-Miller.

The last part of the concert will include the "Jamaican Street Song," Benjamin; "Memories of Childhood," Pinto, which includes such numbers as "Run, Run," "Ring Around the Rosy," "March Little Soldier," "Sleeping Time" and "Hobby Horse." The pianists will conclude the concert with "Prelude No. 2," Gershwin; "Sussex Milkmaids," Thimman, and "Wonderful Guy" from "South Pacific," Rogers-Whittemore-Lowe.

Both Mrs. Paugh and Mrs. Deery presented a concert at the college last spring. Mrs. Paugh, who comes from Spring City, Pa., studied at the Chicago Conservatory of Music and has presented a number of concerts along with Mrs. Deery who lives in Roversford, Pa.

Mrs. Paugh is the mother of Mrs. Helen Paugh Bollinger, wife of Donald Bollinger, Gettysburg, a graduate of the college with the class of 1954.

World War II and the Korean War, and a program begun in 1951 under which the historic documents in the Vatican are being microfilmed. They will be placed in the Pius XII Memorial Library at St. Louis University, for use by American scholars. So far more than 800,000 feet of film containing nearly 10,000,000 handwritten pages have been turned over to the library at St. Louis.

For the last 30 years the K. of C. has provided and operated playgrounds in Rome. In the U.S. most councils conduct a youth program. Among its religious activities has been an advertising program which so far has drawn 2,500,000 responses from persons interested in obtaining information about the Catholic Church.

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, program chairman for the local Knights, said much of Sunday evening's program will be devoted to details of the work of the "K" of C. during the last 75 years.

CRITICIZE S. S. SPEED WITH IKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) today criticized what he termed "evident disregard of the speed laws and elemental traffic safety" during President Eisenhower's drive to Gettysburg, Pa., yesterday.

Neuberger's comment was made in an interview after reporters accompanying the President said Eisenhower was driven to his Gettysburg farm at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. The car was driven by a Secret Service man.

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said that was "too fast for anybody." He said in a separate interview that perhaps Eisenhower should "take to the air, where there is less traffic."

Goldwater said he felt Eisenhower must have had some pressing reason for wanting to get to Gettysburg in a hurry. Otherwise, he said the President ought to observe the speed laws.

Press Is Blocked

Eisenhower made the 80 mile trip in 1 1/4 hours, with his car slowing only for an occasional dip in the road or a railroad track. Reporters, in separate cars were left behind when they were flagged down to the 55 mile speed limit by a Montgomery County, Md., police car. No arrests were made.

When the squad car turned back at the county line, newsmen had to drive 35 to 100 miles an hour to catch up with the President. They are assigned to keep him in sight at all times.

Neuberger said such speed by the presidential car was "ironic" since he said billboards are spread across the country bearing Eisenhower's picture and an appeal to motorists to drive safely.

Eisenhower went to his farm for a weekend of rest and relaxation.

News Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department Friday announced a complete clearance for Ellis N. Slack, 57-year-old department attorney who was suspended from duty and investigated in connection with alleged tax scandals.

The department said "administrative charges" against Slack in connection with the handling of tax prosecutions during the Truman administration have been dismissed and that he was restored to duty, effective this morning.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Welfare Forum Friday re-elected Hugh G. Pyle, State College, as president for another year.

Also re-elected were: Robert P. Wray, deputy secretary of public assistance, treasurer, and Lowell E. Wright, Norristown, vice president.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas

(D-Ill) today urged the Americans for democratic action (ADA) to throw out any communists who might slip into the organization of self-typed "liberals."

Douglas, in a keynote speech prepared for ADA's 10th anniversary convention, said a pledge of non-membership in the Communist party or in any totalitarian organization still is a basic qualification for belonging to the ADA. He voiced confidence that "we will not relax our vigilance" against any Red interlopers.

a stepson, William Shaffer, Penbrook, and step-granddaughter.

Mrs. M. S. Yohe

Mrs. Nellie Smiley Yohe, 81, wife of Moritz S. Yohe, 212 Lincolnway West, New Oxford, and sister of Mrs. Milton R. Remmel, E. Middle St., died at 9 o'clock this morning. She had been in ill health for two years and was in her usual health this morning. She passed away shortly after eating breakfast.

The deceased was born in York Springs, daughter of the late James and Johanna (Little) Smiley. She resided in New Oxford since 1921. She was a member of the First Lutheran Church and Ladies Aid Society, New Oxford.

She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss M. Grace Yohe, at home, and her sister, Mrs. Remmel.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Fred F. Feiser Funeral Home, New Oxford, with Rev. Dr. George E. Sheffer officiating. Burial will be in the Evergreen Cemetery here.

Friends may call at the funeral home Monday evening after 7 o'clock.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO
Harry L. Haines, former Congressman, Succumb: Former Congressman Harry L. Haines of the Adams, York, Franklin district died at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at his home in Red Lion. He was 67.

A life-long Democrat, Mr. Haines served in congress for five terms, first a period of eight consecutive years from 1931 to 1938 inclusive, and for two other years, 1941 and 1942.

Here And There: Gene Sickles, veteran sign painter, still chuckles over a little incident he experienced while in service.
Early in 1942 he enlisted in the Seabees. Nine months later he was stationed on Midway. One night he and Jack Berger, also of Gettysburg, were on shore duty. The night was pitch black. Sickles wore a gas mask slung around his neck, heavy clothes and gloves. He carried a sub-machine gun and side-arms. The patrol was on the lookout for Jap commandos.

When a routine inspection was being made of the patrol Sickles was told: "There's some mail for you at the shack." Unable to leave his post, Sickles asked that the mail be brought to him. When he had an opportunity to "take a squint" at it he found a notice from the local draft board to report for a physical examination for induction into service and a letter from a local politician to vote "straight ticket" at the elections. The latter letter of course had arrived too late, and the Navy had neglected to notify the draft board that Sickles was in service.

W. Roy Starry Has Resigned At York Springs: W. Roy Starry principal of the York Springs high school, has tendered his resignation to the York Springs school board after more than 43 years in the teaching profession.

Local Couple Weds Today At St James: Miss Ruth V. Nunemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Z. Nunemaker, 43 East Middle street, and J. Fred Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Wright, 116 West Middle street, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at St. James Lutheran church.

Reveal Low Bidder For County Bridge: Frank L. Grant, West Chester, was the low bidder for construction of an I-beam bridge across Marsh Creek near the former Hammers store in Highland township. It was announced by the state Department of Highways on Friday.

The new bridge will replace one of the fast disappearing covered bridges in Adams county.

Bucher Now Hershey Supt.: Robert H. Bucher, son of I. C. Bucher, cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank, has been named a superintendent of the Hershey Chocolate company.

Bucher graduated from Biglerville high school with the class of 1926 and from Gettysburg college with the class of 1932. Immediately after his graduation he was accepted as a chemist by the Hershey company.

His biggest job has been developing the candy bar made by the Hershey company for the "K" rations provided by the armed forces.

Herbert L. Humpert, 70, Upper County Farmer, Is Found Murdered In Barn: Herbert L. Humpert, 70, Gardner R. 2 farmer, was found dead in the entry of his barn Wednesday evening about 4:45 o'clock.

Coroner Dr. C. G. Crist said following a post-mortem this morning that death was due to an intracranial hemorrhage caused by 17 wounds about the head.

Murder, he added, was definitely indicated. The time of death was tentatively set as Monday night.

There was no money found on the body of the bachelor who lived alone on his farm about a half mile northwest of Gardner on the Peach Glen road. He was reported to be "worth about $30,000."

Cromwell To Head VFW Post: Harold Cromwell was elected com-

THE POWER OF THE SMILE

I love to look upon the smile of a baby. I wonder what has inspired it. The smile appears even before it has been able to say a single word. Perhaps we shall never know the wonder that is hidden in that smile, but we know it must express a wonderful secret that God has hid there!

I have stood and watched great crowds and tried to pick out the happy individuals. Every once in a while I discover a solitary smile. I like to listen to the Red Skelton TV show, for he inspires smiles and laughter. He even laughs at his own jokes, and that makes the audience smile. You see, a smile is a contagious thing. People laugh to witness a laugh!

A smile evidences a happy disposition. How often I note a person smile at a stranger, whom he, or she, does not know. How often it is given in an introduction. You know at once that there is a warmth in that person's heart. Wouldn't you prefer to look upon a smile rather than a frown or angry expression? The memory of a smile long lingers.

You know you look upon an efficient worker when you note him silently smiling as he goes about his work. And I'll select the smiling clerk in a store every time in preference to one who gives a stare and says: "What do you want?" So would anyone. The smiling clerk is a top investment.

The power of the smile is attested to every day in a multitude of places. It is the clue to pleasantness. Something fine is always going on behind a genuine smile. I have known many a one who seems to smile through all sorts of tests — sorrow, failure, discouragement, trouble and ill health. I knew a wonderful woman in my early school days who always gave her kindly smile, no matter how she felt. You can enter most anywhere — with a smile!

Just Folks

WISDOM DAYS
At twelve a growing boy knows much.

With everything he keeps in touch
And strange to him this thought appears:

Knowing as little as you do,
That you have labored all the years
And had some triumphs fall to you.

At table with you he may sneer,
Disputing everything you say,
And if you try to catch his ear,
But slight attention he will pay.

He'll wonder how you've lived so long,
Your judgment always being wrong.

The proper ties you never buy,
Your choice of suits is out of date,
At meals he'll shake his head and sigh,
Your wisdom he will underrate.

He'll look at you in manner grave
And tell you that you need a shave.

Be patient through these wisdom days;
Be glad he thinks so much he knows.
Remember it is just a phase
That every youngster undergoes:

To manhood he will quickly grow,
And know as little as you know.

WHO CAN JUDGE CHILDREN?

By EARL J. LYONS
Minneapolis Juvenile Court Judge As Told To Abner Cawley Boardman
All of us worship something. We couldn't endure living otherwise. Some people deify a totem pole, others a state.

The delinquent and abandoned children who come before me all have their gods, too. Most probably these gods will be the coveted attention, or longed-for affection, of others.

I believe it is up to us, working together, through our courts, churches, schools and homes, to replace their tottering values.

Each day before court opens, the children, and such of their parents as can be located, are gathered together in the court anteroom. It has been my custom at this time to speak with them for a few minutes, as a group, before they come before me individually. I want to set their minds thinking about a Power higher than that which we represent. I ask them to reach out to Someone bigger to help with their problems.

Believes In Prayer
I preside over a court, not a Sunday School. But, I am a firm believer in the therapy of prayer.

Folks in trouble are mentally ready to seek help. And as I talk, I can read their eyes, trying to visualize whom I am referring to: a higher court judge... the Governor... maybe Presidential intervention on their behalf? Then I ask them simply to seek guidance from the Superior Being whom we call God.

Richard was only 16 when he was first brought into Juvenile Court for having acted as a lookout in a series of robberies. We committed him to the County School for Boys. He ran away, but later was taken into custody again.

Grew Furious
When I told Richard that this time I'd have to send him to our State School, he grew furious. Grabbing a chair and raising it aloft, he knocked over the counsel table and lunged toward me with blood in his eye.

I ordered him to drop the chair — he hesitated, and then obeyed. Following that, I had the bailiff take him back to detention until both of us cooled down.

I spent the entire next morning with him, piecing together the factors that had brought about his chronic loneliness and embittered attitude toward men and God.

Richard was only 10 when his father, discouraged by crop failures, deserted his family. Later his mother remarried and the step father made no effort to conceal his antagonism to Richard.

Became Friends
I did my best to make him see the reasonableness and joy of doing good for others without expecting any return in kind, and that through faith in prayer and confidence in God we can live happily with ourselves and others.

By noon we were friends, although I wasn't at all sure I'd convinced him of anything but my sincere interest in his welfare.

Ten months later Richard was to be released from the State School. I went to see him.

"Judge," he surprised me by saying, "I certainly was a heel to treat you the way I did. But I just couldn't see it, you trying to do so much for me. I couldn't get it. I even read again that chapter in St. Matthew which you had insisted was the key to my troubles."

Felt Good
"I guess I never would have understood it if one day I hadn't happened to do something for a guy who couldn't do anything for me. Suddenly I felt good all over, and I knew what you were driving at. Don't worry about me now, Judge. I'm going to be all right."

And then there was Dolores, a 17-year-old girl who was promiscuous in her relations with boys and men.

Usually such girls have a certain amount of physical attractiveness, but Dolores was not at all pretty and woefully insecure in everything except the nasty business in which she was involved. That I suspected, and later determined, was her sole means of securing attention from others.

Her record showed that her parents had denied her the interest and affection she needed.

A Familiar Story
A sadly familiar story. The girl, neglected and lonely, gained attention by her promiscuity. Fortunately, her inexperience brought her into Juvenile Court rather early.

I told her God gives us certain things to use, but not abuse. She was frank, and so was I. Finally she agreed with me that no man respects a girl who permits him to be free with her, and that the attentions of an indecent man have no value.

After that I worked hard to persuade her that it is as necessary for people to have the security of a Supreme Being as it is to have food and clothes. "You can actually find this security," I said, "by praying each day, 'Please, God, help me to do my best.'"

Hard To Believe
Dolores looked up. "It won't hurt me — that I know," she said, "and after all, Judge, you could be right."

Three months later I was hurrying through the hallway of the probation office when a poised and well-groomed girl stopped me. It was hard to believe that this was Dolores.

With a smile she said, "Judge Lyons, I'm ever so much happier. Just knowing that God is interested in me — makes things a lot easier."

"Since I have been on the Bench, I have had only four complaints that I should not mention religion in a court. On the other hand, I have received hundreds of favorable comments because I do."

Works With Ministers
I cannot order anyone to go to church because this is unconstitutional, but there is nothing unconstitutional in my talking about the satisfactions to be found in the worship of God.

I believe every child should be offered an opportunity to give the church a try. We find out the child's religious preference, if any, and then contact a clergyman of that faith.

Sniper's Bullets Hit Phila. Train

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A sniper's bullets smashed through the windows of three trains of the Market Street elevated line yesterday, terrorizing passengers and causing one man to faint after a slug narrowly missed his head.

A fourth train also was fired upon but the bullet glanced off the side of the car just under the window. Police said the sniper, who hasn't been found, probably was on a roof or in a window at a level with the elevated tracks.

FEARS WRONG IMPRESSION ON IKE'S FUTURE

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) reportedly has told President Eisenhower that if he makes a personal request for "temporary presidency" legislation, people will think he plans to give up active presidential service.

An informed source, who declined to be quoted by name, said today Rayburn told this to Eisenhower yesterday during a White House conference with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders. Eisenhower was said to have replied that he didn't see how such an inference could be drawn.

At this conference, Eisenhower proposed a Constitutional amendment to authorize the Cabinet to decide by majority vote when the Vice President should assume temporarily the duties of a disabled President who was unable or unwilling to make the decision himself.

Strongly Opposed
Rayburn opposed the idea strongly. Other congressional leaders voiced more guarded reactions, but none indicated enthusiasm for the Eisenhower plan.

The Constitution provides that the Vice President shall take over the duties of the President in the event of the President's resignation, ouster, death or disability. But it does not spell out how a decision is to be reached on when a President is disabled, nor who should make the decision.

After Eisenhower's proposal was announced yesterday, Rep. Keating of New York, senior

Difference Of Opinion
There is a difference of opinion over whether the Constitutional gap should be plugged by a bill or by a Constitutional amendment. And there are those who, like Rayburn, feel there is no need for any action.

In view of the wide range of opinions on the question, Democratic leaders were reported to have agreed informally that nothing will be done at this session. However, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said yesterday the matter is of "sufficient importance that the congress may very well act this year on it."

SIGNS POINT TO BATTLE BY BECK ON HIS OUSTER

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders of organized labor today awaited word on whether Dave Beck's teamsters will back him or dump him in the wake of his suspension as an AFL-CIO chief.

Beck, president of the Teamsters Union, gave every appearance of being determined to fight it out.

His troubles mounted on the heels of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's action yesterday suspending him as one of its members and as an AFL-CIO vice president.

Senate Not Through
The council — top command of the 15-million member AFL-CIO — ordered a full scale investigation by the federation's Ethical Practices Committee into charges that Beck has brought "the labor movement into disrepute."

This probe also would cover corruption allegations against several other high Teamsters officials, some of whom are under indictment on various charges.

Meanwhile, Senate Rackets Committee sources said they are not "half through" investigating Beck's complex financial dealings, but may not call him back for quizzing unless he agrees to Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, introduced a bill to provide for a commission to pass on whether a President is disabled. Such a commission would be made up of members of Congress, the Cabinet and the Supreme Court.

MUCH OF U. S. GETTING RAIN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather pattern held to early spring seasonal levels today.

Wet weather prevailed in wide areas of the Northwest and in scattered sections of the Northeast. Temperatures were mostly around normal although a little cooling was indicated in western parts of the Southeast.

The rainfall in the northwest extended over wide areas but it was light in most places. The precipitation belt extended from the Pacific eastward through western Montana and Utah and the northern two-thirds of California.

In the Northeast, rain sprinkled areas from southeastern lower Michigan through Pennsylvania to the Atlantic Coast and southward through eastern Virginia.

Temperatures showed little change. Readings ranged from the 20s in the extreme northern part of the country up to the 40s in the central areas and mostly in the 50s in the South. West of the Rockies they ranged from the 40s in the north to the 50s in the south.

Bullets And Cornell Battle To 8-8 Tie; Leidel Drives Home Tying Run In Ninth

Larry Leidel, sophomore third baseman, singled with two out in the last of the ninth inning to score Vince Scolia with the tying run as Gettysburg and Cornell battled to an 8-8 tie here Friday afternoon, darkness halting the long contest at the end of the frame.

The game was the initial start for the Bullets and was the fourth for Cornell who previously won three of four on their southern tour. A raw westerly wind and intermittent rain hampered both teams considerably.

Cornell jumped on starter Wally Kuligowski for three runs in the first inning on singles by Juvonen and Shigekane, double by Reynolds and triple to right center by Schiff.

Bullets Retaliate

A walk to Scolia, Art Hendley's infield single, a wild pitch and Frank Capitani's sacrifice fly gave Gettysburg a run in the last of the first frame. Bobby Rohrbaugh scored in the second frame after reaching base on an infield over-throw, scampering home on Scolia's infield hit.

Cornell added a run in the third and the Bullets retaliated on a double by Joe Robinski and single, first of three hits, by Leidel.

The Bullets went ahead 6-5 in the bottom of the fourth with three tallies. With one out, Scolia walked. Hendley was hit by a pitched ball, Robinski singled home Scolia while Hendley was out down attempting to reach third base. Capitani walked and both runners raced home on Leidel's three-bagger to right center.

The Big Red picked up single runs in the sixth and seventh to go ahead 8-7.

Scolia drew his fourth walk to open the ninth. Hendley struck out but Robinski walked. Capitani skied to left and then Leidel drove home his fourth run of the afternoon with a single to right. Schiff's throw to Reynolds nailed Robinski for the final out.

TURNER LOSES ON DECISION

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — Cuban Isaac (Kid) Logart's campaign for a title shot at welterweight champion Carmen Basilio had the support of Gil Turner today.

The backing came after the fast-punching 23-year-old, invader racked up his second straight unanimous decision over aggressive Gil in a rousing 10-round televised scrap at Madison Square Garden last night.

Turner, tired from another one of his all-out, full steam ahead thrillers, didn't have enough left in the final three rounds, however, and Logart swept to the front for keeps with his raking left hooks to the body and head.

Both judges, Bill Reuch and Nick Gamboli, had Logart ahead, 63-61 in rounds Referee Mark Conn called it 6-4, and The Associated Press 5-4-1.

DODGERS WIN STEALING BASE ALREADY FILLED

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Turn back the clock, if you will, almost three decades.

Remember the Brooklyn Dodgers of, say, 1930. One of their favorite tricks was for one of them to steal a base already occupied by one of their mates.

Rookie Joe Pignatano of the Dodgers tried it in yesterday's exhibition game with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. He was sent in as a pinch-runner for Ruben Walker, who had doubled home a run in the ninth inning. What confused Pignatano was that two Brooks were on base when Walker delivered his blast.

Amoros Scored
Joe saw them both score. But he didn't see that Sandy Amoros was sent back to third base because of a ground rule.

Pignatano broke for third. Halfway down, he realized third base was occupied by Amoros, and he stopped dead in embarrassment. He was run down, but Amoros scored the Dodgers' third run. And that's how the game ended: Yanks 4, Dodgers 3.

Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves received a note of encouragement from two of his question mark pitchers — Chet Nichols and Gene Conley combined for a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton.

Roberts Beats Chisox

At Clearwater, Fla., Philly ace Robin Roberts went the distance and faced only 18 batters in the last five innings to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. At Tampa, veteran Warren Hacker went all the way for the Redlegs, in stopping the Washington Senators, 7-2.

Elsewhere, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Pittsburgh Pirates halted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, at Lakeland; the Cleveland Indians humbled the Boston Red Sox, 7-1, at Tucson, Ariz., and the Kansas City A's turned back the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, 6-3, at West Palm Beach.

Lee Walls won the game for the Pirates with a two-run homer.

UNION MONEY IN 2 TRACKS

CLEVELAND (AP) — One million dollars of Teamsters' Union pension fund money has been invested in two Cleveland race tracks.

But James R. Hoffa, head of the Central Conference of Teamsters, said the loan was made on "the real estate not on the tracks."

Confirming a report yesterday that the loan was made to Cleveland Raceways, Inc., a month ago, Hoffa said the land the two tracks are located on is valued at 4.5 million dollars.

A spokesman for the track operators estimated the value of the properties and other physical structures involved as "in excess of five million dollars."

Raceways operates Cranwood Race Course, a half-mile track, and Thistle Down Park, a one-mile oval track with a grandstand that seats 25,000.

Hoffa was reached in Detroit a few hours after he pleaded innocent in Washington to charges of conspiring and bribing to get secrets of a Senate committee investigating racketeers in the labor and management field.

FINSTERWALD IN 1-POINT LEAD

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald's at times unruly putter and a determined Arnold Palmer have combined to make the $12,500 Azalea Open Golf Tournament very much of a contest going into today's third round.

Finsterwald, the 27-year-old Jupiter, Fla., pro who grabbed a three-stroke lead with a first day 66, could do no better than 70 yesterday and held a one-shot lead with his 136 total for 36 holes.

Palmer, 1954 National Amateur champion, now a professional playing from Latrobe, Pa., came up with a 67, the best score of the second round to bring his total to 137 going into the last two days over the sandy stretches of the 6,800-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

Fred Wampler, a former national intercollegiate champion from Purdue, now a pro out of Indianapolis was in third place at 140, four shots off the front end.

Still in contention at 141 were E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis; Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill., and Paul O'Leary of Bismarck, N.D.

Providence Reds Defeat Rochester

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Providence Reds, winner of the American Hockey League championship, are back in contention for the Calder Cup after breaking a scoring drought which extended through 135 minutes and 47 seconds of play against the Rochester Americans.

The Reds, shutout in their first two games of the best of seven semifinal series against Rochester, rallied at 15:48 of the first period last night to tie the score and went on to a 4-3 victory.

The fourth game of the set will be played in Rochester Sunday. The other semifinalists resume action tonight at Hershey with Cleveland meeting the Bears.

BENEFIT FIGHT IN MICH. PRISON

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — In Southern Michigan Prison where rioting inmates burned down the prison chapel in 1952, prisoners fought again last night — this time by Marquis of Queensbury rules — to earn money to rebuild the chapel.

It was the first time in almost 20 years that the public had been let inside the gates of the world's largest walled prison.

Light heavyweight champ Archie Moore refereed two of the nine bouts. The fans crowded in to the main auditorium which still bears the scorch marks of the fire started by prisoners in the riot.

Warden William H. Bannon said, "It goes to show you people will do anything to fight sin. If we'd billed this strictly as an athletic affair, it wouldn't have drawn 15 cents."

As it was, the fights drew better than $1,600.

Simmons Is Ready For A "Good Season"

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Left-hander Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies believes he is ready for his best season since 1950, when he won 18 as the Phils took the National League pennant.

"This is my year," Simmons said. "I feel better than I ever have. Not a trace of soreness and I can get the ball where I want it better. I started feeling 'right' late last year and I feel just as good now."

Simmons won 15, including seven in a row, in 1956, his best year since the pennant-winning days. In between he put in a hitch in the service, ran over his foot with a power mower and came up with an assortment of pains that seemed to spell an end to the promise he showed early in his career.

TWO BIG RACES ON CARD TODAY

By CARLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

The turf spotlight today was turned on two $100,000 added races — the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park and the John B. Campbell Memorial at Bowie.

The Derby, a mile and one-eighth race, attracted only five 3-year olds. But two of them, Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler and Calumet Farm's Gen. Duke, are expected to play an important role in the Kentucky Derby.

The race will be televised. Bold Ruler, trained by 82-year-old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons was made the even money favorite chiefly off his victory in Hialeah Park's Flamingo Stakes in which he edged Gen. Duke in a driving finish.

Gen. Duke was the second choice at 6 to 5. Federal Hill, and Shan Pac completed the overnight field. The race had a gross value of $123,600 with $73,400 going to the winner.

Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate was the "big" horse in the field of 10 named for the mile and one-sixteenth of the John B. Campbell. He was assigned top weight of 124 pounds and stood to pick up $76,850 for the gross purse of $112,850 if all 10 start.

Most solid contenders, in addition to Dedicate, shaped up as C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, 113, and Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Paper Tiger, 113.

Two Ships

canal tolls paid into a bank in some neutral country, probably the federal bank of Switzerland. This arrangement would be for shippers who do not want to pay inside Egypt.

Attention was concentrated also on the Egyptian-Israeli dispute pique over the Gaza Strip. U. N. officials in Cairo said they had no knowledge of any buildup of Egyptian military police in the strip, as charged in Jerusalem Thursday.

A usually well informed diplomatic source at U. N. headquarters in New York said Hammarskjöld and Nasser had agreed that Arab Police and U. N. troops in the Gaza Strip should work together to prevent any raids into Israel by anti-Israeli commandos.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American newspaperman who defied a ban on travel to Red China protested to Congress Friday the State Department's silence on his application for a renewed passport.

William Worthy, 35-year-old reporter for the Baltimore Afro-American, said he has seen how totalitarian governments restrict newsmen and declared: "Neither as a newspaperman nor as a citizen do I want to see even the seeds of such controls planted in this country."

NEW YORK (AP) — Sports writer Grandall Rice left a net estate of $42,907 when he died July 13, 1954. It was disclosed yesterday. An estate tax appraisal listed gross assets of $68,698.

Principal beneficiaries were his widow, Mrs. Katherine Hollis Rice of New York, and a daughter, Florence Rice Butler of Venice, Calif.

Chester And Sharon Battle Tonight For Class A Title; Fountain Hill Wins Class B

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chester

High will stack a height advantage against the ball handling of unbeaten Sharon tonight in an effort to win the Class A PIAA basketball title and make it an eastern sweep in the state's schoolboy court tourneys.

Defending champion Fountain Hill took command in the second period last night and held the margin to down previously unbeaten Shannock Valley 72-64 for the Class B title in a game played at New Wilmington.

Four foul shots dumped in by Fleetwood's Dick Peters in the final 90 seconds of play gave the eastern Class C champions a 64-63 title win over Williamsburg in another tussle last night at Reading.

Allentown Central Catholic previously beat Johnstown Catholic for the Class A PIAA title.

Overflow Crowd Expected
The Class A championship game will be played before an expected sellout crowd at the University of Pennsylvania's Palestra with a seven-station special network television audience also watching.

Big gun of the Sharon attack will be all-state Mark Dumars, a "shorty" at 5-10. The balance of the starting Sharon lineup consists of Pete Culp, Ed Winters, Mike Matta and John Fridley. The team's rebounding chores will be handled by the 6-3 Matta and Fridley at 6-5.

Four of Chester's starters are 6 feet or better—Jerry Foster (6-0), Warren Sutton (6-4), Lou Wade (6-3) and Billy Wilson (6-0). Charley Davidson, the playmaker of the team, stands 5-11.

More than 10,000 fans are expected to jam the Palestra, 2,500 of them from the Sharon area. They swarmed into Philadelphia in advance by car, bus, train and plane. Chester's band of followers will swell the turnout today.

Led All Way
In the Class B title game, Fountain Hill took a 34-29 lead by halftime and stretched that margin in the final quarters. At one point, the easterners led by as much as 17 points. A 10-point Shannock Valley spurt in the final two minutes cut the lead.

Dick Kosman with 21 points was high man for the winners with Karol Strelciak 17 tallies helping, along with the 10 contributed by Austin Cypher, possibly the nation's lone one-handed varsity schoolboy player.

Jim Francesconi dropped in 20 points for the losers, while Leo Haky scored 19.

Knotted Eight Times
Fleetwood came home a winner in red hot battle all the way with the score knotted eight times before Fleetwood surged in front to stay.

Fleetwood goals by Arlen Burkert and Peters—the boy who sank the vital four fouls in the final seconds—made it 58-53 for the easterners. Paced by Center Ken Flaig, who had 18 for the evening, Williamsburg climbed back to within one point at 60-59.

At that stage of the contest, Peters got his four fouls tries and made them, with one Williamsburg free throw tossed in along the line. Flaig's long set shot a second before the buzzer made the final score 64-63.

Burkert scored 22 for Fleetwood with Tom Lenhart making 14.

Bullets And Cornell Battle To 8-8 Tie; Leidel Drives Home Tying Run In Ninth

Larry Leidel, sophomore third baseman, singled with two out in the last of the ninth inning to score Vince Scola with the tying run as Gettysburg and Cornell battled to an 8-8 tie here Friday afternoon, darkness halting the long contest at the end of the frame.

The game was the initial start, for the Bullets and was the fourth for Cornell who previously won three of four on their southern tour. A raw westerly wind and intermittent rain hampered both teams considerably. Cornell jumped on starter Wally Kuligowski for three runs in the first inning on singles by Juvonen and Shigekane, double by Reynolds and triple to right center by Schiff.

Bullets Retaliate
A walk to Scola, Art Hendley's infield single, a wild pitch and Frank Capitani's sacrifice fly gave Gettysburg a run in the last of the first frame. Bobby Rohrbaugh scored in the second frame after reaching base on an infield over-throw, scampering home on Scola's infield hit.

Cornell added a run in the third and the Bullets retaliated on a double by Joe Robinski and single, first of three hits, by Leidel.

The Bullets went ahead 6-5 in the bottom of the fourth with three tallies. With one out, Scola walked. Hendley was hit by a pitched ball. Robinski singled home Scola while Hendley was cut down attempting to reach third base. Capitani walked and both runners raced home on Leidel's three-bagger to right center.

The Big Red picked up single runs in the sixth and seventh to go ahead 8-7.

Scola drew his fourth walk to open the ninth. Hendley struck out but Robinski walked. Capitani skied to left and then Leidel drove home his fourth run of the afternoon with a single to right. Schiff's throw to Reynolds nailed Robinski for the final out.

TURNER LOSES ON DECISION

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP) — Cuban Isaac (Kid) Logart's campaign for a title shot at welterweight champion Carmen Basilio had the support of Gil Turner today.
The backing came after the fast-punching 23-year-old, invader racked up his second straight unanimous decision over aggressive Gil in a rousing 10-round televised scrap at Madison Square Garden last night.

Turner, tired from another one of his all-out, full steam ahead thrillers, didn't have enough left in the final three rounds, however, and Logart swept to the front for keeps with his raking left hooks to the body and head.

Both judges, Bill Rechi and Nick Gamboli, had Logart ahead, 63-1 in rounds. Referee Mark Conn called it 6-4, and The Associated Press 5-1.

DODGERS WIN STEALING BASE ALREADY FILLED

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Turn back the clock, if you will, almost three decades.

Remember the Brooklyn Dodgers of, say, 1930. One of their favorite tricks was for one of them to steal a base already occupied by one of their mates.

Rookie Joe Pignatano of the Dodgers tried it in yesterday's exhibition game with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. He was sent in as a pinch-runner for Rube Walker, who had doubled home a run in the ninth inning. What confused Pignatano was that two Brooks were on base when Walker delivered his blast.

Amoros Scored
Joe saw them both score. But he didn't see that Sandy Amoros was sent back to third base because of a ground rule.

Pignatano broke for third. Halfway down, he realized third base was occupied by Amoros, and he stopped dead in embarrassment. He was run down, but Amoros scored the Dodgers' third run. And that's how the game ended: Yanks 4, Dodgers 3.

Manager Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves received a note of encouragement from two of his question mark pitchers — Chet Nichols and Gene Conley combined for a 6-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton.

Roberts Beats Chisox
At Clearwater, Fla., Philly ace Robin Roberts went the distance and faced only 18 batters in the last five innings to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. At Tampa, veteran Warren Hacker went all the way for the Redlegs in stopping the Washington Senators, 7-2.

Elsewhere, the New York Giants defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 4-2, at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Pittsburgh Pirates halted the Detroit Tigers, 6-5, at Lakeland; the Cleveland Indians humbled the Boston Red Sox, 7-1, at Tucson, Ariz.; and the Kansas City A's turned back the Buffalo Bisons of the International League, 6-3, at West Palm Beach.

Lee Walls won the game for the Pirates with a two-run homer.

UNION MONEY IN 2 TRACKS

CLEVELAND (AP) — One million dollars of Teamsters' Union pension fund money has been invested in two Cleveland race tracks.

But James R. Hoffa, head of the Central Conference of Teamsters, said the loan was made on "the real estate note on the tracks."

Confirming a report yesterday that the loan was made to Cleveland Raceways, Inc., a month ago, Hoffa said the land the two tracks are located on is valued at 4.5 million dollars.

A spokesman for the track operators estimated the value of the properties and other physical structures involved as "in excess of five million dollars."

Raceways operates Cranwood Race Course, a half-mile track, and Thistle Down Park, a one-mile oval track with a grandstand that seats 25,000.

Hoffa was reached in Detroit a few hours after he pleaded innocent in Washington to charges of conspiring and bribing to get secrets of a Senate committee investigating rackets in the labor and management field.

Finsterwald in 1-Point Lead

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Dow Finsterwald's at times unruly putter and a determined Arnold Palmer have combined to make the $12,500 Azalea Open Golf Tournament very much of a contest going into today's third round.

Finsterwald, the 27-year-old Jupiter, Fla., pro who grabbed a three-stroke lead with a first day 66, could do no better than 70 yesterday and held a one-shot lead with his 136 total for 36 holes.

Palmer, 1954 National Amateur champion, now a professional playing from Latrobe, Pa., came up with a 67, the best score of the second round to bring his total to 137 going into the last two days over the sandy stretches of the 6,800-yard Cape Fear Country Club course.

Fred Wampler, a former national intercollegiate champion from Purdue, now a pro out of Indianapolis was in third place at 140, four shots off the front end.

Still in contention at 141 were E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis; Ed Furgol of St. Andrews, Ill.; and Paul O'Leary of Bismarck, N.D.

Providence Reds Defeat Rochester

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Providence Reds, winner of the American Hockey League championship, are back in contention for the Calder Cup after breaking a scoring drought which extended through 135 minutes and 47 seconds of play against the Rochester Americans.

The Reds, shutout in their first two games of the best of seven semifinal series against Rochester, tallied at 15:48 of the first period last night to tie the score and went on to a 4-3 victory.

The fourth game of the set will be played in Rochester Sunday. The other semifinalists resume action tonight at Hershey with Cleveland meeting the Bears.

BENEFIT FIGHT IN MICH. PRISON

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — In Southern Michigan Prison where rioting inmates burned down the prison chapel in 1952, prisoners fought again last night — this time by Marquis of Queensbury rules — to earn money to rebuild the chapel.

It was the first time in almost 20 years that the public had been let inside the gates of the world's largest walled prison.

Light heavyweight champ Archie Moore refereed two of the nine bouts. The fans crowded into the main auditorium which still bears the scorch marks of the fire started by prisoners in the riot.

Warden William H. Bannion said, "It goes to show you people will do anything to fight sin. If we'd billed this strictly as an athletic affair, it wouldn't have drawn 15 cents."

As it was, the fights drew better than $1,600.

Simmons Is Ready For A "Good Season"

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Left-hander Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies believes he is ready for his best season since 1950, when he won 18 as the Phils took the National League pennant.

"This is my year," Simmons said. "I feel better than I ever have. Not a trace of soreness and I can get the ball where I want it better. I started feeling 'right' late last year and I feel just as good now."

Simmons won 15, including seven in a row, in 1956, his best year since the pennant-winning days. In between he put in a hitch in the service, ran over his foot with a power mower and came up with an assortment of pains that seemed to spell an end to the promise he showed early in his career.

DAN HODGE OF OKLAHOMA WINS THREE STRAIGHT

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ever watch a wild starved for several days pounce on a foe? That's an apt description of Oklahoma's Dan Hodge, two-time NCAA wrestling champion. He literally eats 'em alive.

Hodge, a U.S. silver medal winner in the Olympics and bidding for his third straight NCAA 177-pound title, makes Oklahoma a solid choice in today's finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. at the Pitt Field House.

And here's why. The 24-year-old senior won all three matches in yesterday's opening rounds by falls to extend his victory streak to 45 straight. He's pinned 22 opponents in succession.

In bidding for the triple crown in the opening NCAA matches, Hodge pinned Richard Garretson of Rutgers in 5:50, Pitt's Alex Skirpan in 50 seconds and Garry Haller of Kansas State in 28 seconds.

In second place, only five points behind was Pitt, runnerup in the eastern finals to Penn State. The big gun for the Panthers is Ed Peery, bidding for the Peery family's third triple NCAA crown.

Here's the way the picture shapes up for the semi-finals: Oklahoma, a prohibitive favorite, leads with 23 points followed by Pitt with 18. Both will have four entries in the finals matches.

The other contenders include Oklahoma A. & M. and Penn State with 13 points apiece; Iowa State with 12; Michigan with 11, and Iowa with 10.

Jim Pyburn May Be Oriole Catcher

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles are experimenting with bonus player Jim Pyburn as a catcher.

Pyburn came to the Orioles as a third baseman in 1955, although he did catch some as a collegian at Auburn. He was later shifted to the outfield and did well defensively although finding it hard to hit major league pitching.

If Pyburn can make the move, he'll battle Joe Ginsberg and rookie Tom Patton for the No. 2 catching spot behind slugger Gus Triandos. And he may cement a spot for himself on the Oriole roster after his two-year bonus term expires June 15.

TWO BIG RACES ON CARD TODAY

By CRLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

The turf spotlight today was turned on two $100,000 added races — the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park and the John B. Campbell Memorial at Bowie.

The Derby, a mile and one-eighth race, attracted only five 3-year-olds. But two of them, Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler and Calumet Farm's Gen. Duke, are expected to play an important role in the Kentucky Derby.

The race will be televised.

Bold Ruler, trained by 82-year-old Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons was made the even money favorite chiefly off his victory in Hialeah Park's Flamingo Stakes in which he edged Gen. Duke in a driving finish.

Gen. Duke was the second choice at 6 to 5. Federal Hill, and Shan Pac completed the overnight field. The race had a gross value of $123,600 with $73,400 going to the winner.

Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate was the "big" horse in the field of 10 named for the mile and one-sixteenth of the John B. Campbell. He was assigned top weight of 124 pounds and stood to pick up $76,850 for the gross purse of $122,850 if all 10 start.

Most solid contenders, in addition to Dedicate, shaped up as C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, 118, and Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Paper Tiger, 113.

Attention was concentrated also on the Egyptian-Israeli dispute over the Gaza Strip. U. N. officials in Cairo said they had no knowledge of any buildup of Egyptian military police in the strip, as charged in Jerusalem Thursday.

A usually well informed diplomatic source at U. N. headquarters in New York said Hammarskjold and Nasser had agreed that Arab Police and U. N. troops in the Gaza Strip should work together to prevent any raids into Israel by anti-Israeli commandos.

Chester And Sharon Battle Tonight For Class A Title; Fountain Hill Wins Class B

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chester High will stack a height advantage against the ball handling of unbeaten Sharon tonight in an effort to win the Class A PIAA basketball title and make it an eastern sweep in the state's schoolboy court tourneys.

Defending champion Fountain Hill took command in the second period last night and held the margin to down previously unbeaten Shannock Valley 72-64 for the Class B title in a game played at New Wilmington.

Four foul shots dumped in by Fleetwood's Dick Peters in the final 90 seconds of play gave the eastern Class C champions a 64-63 title win over Williamsburg in another tussle last night at Reading.

Allentown Central Catholic previously beat Johnstown Catholic for the Class A PCIAA title.

Overflow Crowd Expected
The Class A championship game will be played before an expected sellout crowd at the University of Pennsylvania's Palestra with a seven-station special network television audience also watching.

Big gun of the Sharon attack will be all-state Mark Dumars, a "shorty" at 5-10. The balance of the starting Sharon lineup consists of Pete Culp, Ed Winters, Mike Matta and John Fridley. The team's rebounding chores will be handled by the 6-3 Matta and Fridley at 6-5.

Four of Chester's starters are 6 feet or better — Jerry Foster (6-0), Warren Sutton (6-4), Lou Wade (6-3) and Billy Wilson (6-0). Charley Davidson, the playmaker of the team, stands 5-11.

More than 10,000 fans are expected to jam the Palestra, 2,500 of them from the Sharon area. They swarmed into Philadelphia in advance by car, bus, train and plane. Chester's band of followers will swell the turnout today.

Led All Way
In the Class B title game, Fountain Hill took a 34-29 lead by halftime and stretched that margin in the final quarters. At one point, the easterners led by as much as 17 points. A 10-point Shannock Valley spurt in the final two minutes cut the lead.

Dick Kosman with 21 points was high man for the winners with Karol Streelec's 17 tallies helping, along with the 10 contributed by Austin Cypher, possibly the nation's lone one-handed varsity schoolboy player.

TEN YEARS AGO

Harry L. Haines, former Congressman, Succumbed: Former Congressman Harry L. Haines of the Adams, York, Franklin district died at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at his home in Red Lion. He was 67.

A life-long Democrat, Mr. Haines served in Congress for five terms, first a period of eight consecutive years from 1931 to 1938 inclusive, and for two other years, 1941 and 1942.

Here And There: Gene Sickles, veteran sign painter, still chuckles over a little incident he experienced while in service.

Early in 1942 he enlisted in the Seabees. Nine months later he was stationed on Midway. One night he and Jack Berger, also of Gettysburg, were on shore duty. The night was pitch black. Sickles wore a gas mask slung around his neck, heavy clothes and gloves. He carried a sub-machine gun and side-arms. The patrol was on the lookout for Jap commandos.

When a routine inspection was being made of the patrol Sickles was told: "There's some mail for you at the shack." Unable to leave his post, Sickles asked that the mail be brought to him. When he had an opportunity to "take a squint" at it he found a notice from the local draft board to report for a physical examination for induction into service and a letter from a local politician to vote "straight ticket" at the elections. The latter letter of course had arrived too late, and the Navy had neglected to notify the draft board that Sickles was in service.

W. Roy Starry Has Resigned At York Springs: W. Roy Starry principal of the York Springs high school, has tendered his resignation to the York Springs school board after more than 43 years in the teaching profession.

Local Couple Weds Today At St James: Miss Ruth V. Nunemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Z. Nunemaker, 43 East Middle street, and J. Fred Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Wright, 116 West Middle street, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at St. James Lutheran Church.

Reveal Low Bidder For County Bridge: Frank L. Grant, West Chester, was the low bidder for construction of an I-beam bridge across Marsh Creek near the former Hammers' store in Highland township, it was announced by the state Department of Highways on Friday.

The new bridge will replace one of the fast disappearing covered bridges in Adams county.

Bucher Now Hershey Supt.: Robert H. Bucher, son of I. C. Bucher, cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank, has been named a permanent attendant of the Hershey Chocolate company.

Bucher graduated from Biglerville high school with the class of 1936 and from Gettysburg college with the class of 1937. Immediately after his graduation he was accepted as a chemist by the Hershey company.

His biggest job has been developing the candy bar made by the Hershey company for the "K" rations provided by the armed forces.

Herbert L. Humpert, 70, Upper County Farmer, Is Found Murdered In Barn: Herbert L. Humpert, 70, Gardners R. 2 farmer, was found dead in the entry of his barn Wednesday evening about 4:45 o'clock.

Coroner Dr. C. G. Crist said following a post-mortem this morning that death was due to an intracranial hemorrhage caused by 17 wounds about the head.

Murder, he added, was definitely indicated. The time of death was tentatively set as Monday night. There was no money found on the body of the bachelor who lived alone on his farm about a half mile northwest of Gardners on the Peach Glen road. He was reported to be "worth about $30,000."

Today's Talk

THE POWER OF THE SMILE

I love to look upon the smile of a baby. I wonder what has inspired it. The smile appears even before it has been able to say a single word. Perhaps we shall never know the wonder that is hidden in that smile, but we know it must express a wonderful secret that God has hid there!

I have stood and watched great crowds and tried to pick out the happy individuals. Every once in a while I discover a solitary smile. I like to listen to the Red Skelton TV show, for he inspires smiles and laughter. He even laughs at his own jokes, and that makes the audience smile. You see, a smile is a contagious thing. People laugh to witness a laugh!

A smile evidences a happy disposition. How often I note a person smile at a stranger, whom he, or she, does not know. How often it is given in an introduction. You know at once that there is a warmth in that person's heart. Wouldn't you prefer to look upon a smile rather than a frown or angry expression? The memory of a smile long lingers.

You know you look upon an efficient worker when you note him smiling as he goes about his work. And I'll select the smiling clerk in a store every time in preference to one who gives a stare and says: "What do you want?" So would anyone. The smiling clerk is a top investment.

The power of the smile is attested to every day in a multitude of places. It is the clue to pleasantness. Something fine is always going on behind a genuine smile. I have known many a one who seems to smile through all sorts of tests — sorrow, failure, discouragement, trouble and ill health. I knew a wonderful woman in my early school days who always gave out her kindly smile, no matter how she felt. You can enter most anywhere — with a smile!

WISDOM DAYS

At twelve a growing boy knows much.

With everything he keeps in touch.

And strange to him this thought appears:

Knowing as little as you do, That you have labored all the years

And had some triumphs fall to you.

At table with you he may sneer, Disputing everything you say, And if you try to catch his ear

But slight attention he will pay. He'll wonder how you've lived so long, Your judgment always being wrong.

The proper ties you never buy, Your choice of suits is out of date, At meals he'll shake his head and sigh;

Your wisdom he will underrate. He'll look at you in manner grave And tell you that you need a shave.

Be patient through these wisdom days; Be glad he thinks so much he knows.

Remember it is just a phase That every youngster undergoes: To manhood he will quickly grow And know as little as you know.

WHO CAN JUDGE CHILDREN?

By EARL J. LYONS
Minneapolis Juvenile Court Judge
As Told To Abner Cawley Boardman
All of us worship something. We couldn't endure living otherwise. Some people deify a totem pole, others a state.

The delinquent and abandoned children who come before me all have their gods, too. Most probably these gods will be the coveted attention, or longed-for affection, of others.

I believe it is up to us, working together, through our courts, churches, schools and homes, to replace their tottering values.

Each day before court opens, the children, and such of their parents as can be located, are gathered together in the court anteroom. It has been my custom at this time to speak with them for a few minutes, as a group, before they come before me individually. I want to set their minds thinking about a Power higher than that which we represent. I ask them to reach out to Someone bigger to help with their problems.

Believes In Prayer
I preside over a court, not a Sunday School. But, I am a firm believer in the therapy of prayer.

Folks in trouble are mentally ready to seek help. And as I talk, I can read their eyes, trying to visualize whom I am referring to; a higher court judge . . . the Governor . . . maybe Presidential intervention on their behalf? Then I ask them simply to seek guidance from the Superior Being whom we call God.

Richard was only 16 when he was first brought into Juvenile Court for having acted as a look-out in a series of robberies. We committed him to the County School for Boys. He ran away, but later was taken into custody again.

Grew Furious
When I told Richard that this time I'd have to send him to our State School, he grew furious. Grabbing a chair and raising it aloft, he knocked over the counsel table and lunged toward me with blood in his eye.

I ordered him to drop the chair — he hesitated, and then obeyed. Following that, I had the bailiff take him back to detention until both of us cooled down.

I spent the entire next morning with him, piecing together the factors that had brought about his chronic loneliness and embittered his attitude toward men and God.

Richard was only 10 when his father, discouraged by crop failures, deserted his family. Later his mother remarried and the step father made no effort to conceal his antagonism to Richard.

Became Friends
I did my best to make him see the reasonableness and joy of doing good for others without expecting any return in kind, and that through faith in prayer and confidence in God we can live happily with ourselves and others.

By noon we were friends, although I wasn't at all sure I'd convinced him of anything but my sincere interest in his welfare.

Ten months later Richard was to be released from the State School. I went to see him.

"Judge," he surprised me by saying, "I certainly was a heel to treat you the way I did. But I just couldn't see it, you trying to do so much for me. I couldn't get it. I even read again that chapter in St. Matthew which you had insisted was the key to my troubles."

Felt Good
"I guess I never would have understood it if one day I hadn't happened to do something for a guy who couldn't do anything for me. Suddenly I felt good all over, and I knew what you were driving at. Don't worry about me now, Judge. I'm going to be all right."

And then there was Dolores, a 17-year-old girl who was promiscuous in her relations with boys and men.

Usually such girls have a certain amount of physical attractiveness, but Dolores was not at all pretty and woefully insecure in everything except the nasty business in which she was involved. That I suspected, and later determined, was her sole means of securing attention from others.

Her record showed that her parents had denied her the interest and affection she needed.

A Familiar Story
A sadly familiar story. The girl, neglected and lonely, gained attention by her promiscuity. Fortunately, her inexperience brought her into Juvenile Court rather early.

I told her God gives us certain things to use, but not abuse. She was frank, and so was I. Finally she agreed with me that no man respects a girl who permits him to be free with her, and that the attentions of an indecent man have no value.

After that I worked hard to persuade her that it is as necessary for people to have the security of a Supreme Being as it is to have food and clothes. "You can actually find this security," I said, "by praying each day, 'Please, God, help me to do my best.'"

Hard To Believe
Dolores looked up. "It won't hurt me — that I know," she said, "and after all, Judge, you could be right."

Three months later, I was hurrying through the hallway of the probation office when a poised and well-groomed girl stopped me. It was hard to believe that this was Dolores.

With a smile she said, "Judge Lyons, I'm ever so much happier. Just knowing that God is interested in me — makes things a lot easier."

Since I have been on the Bench, I have had only four complaints that I should not mention religion in court. On the other hand, I have received hundreds of favorable comments because I do.

Works With Ministers
I cannot order anyone to go to church because this is unconstitutional in my talking about the satisfactions to be found in the worship of God.

I believe every child should be offered an opportunity to give the church a try. We find out the child's religious preference, if any, and then contact a clergyman of that faith.

Every effort is made, through the pastor and the county's character-building organizations, to imbue the child with a sense of security. That comes when he begins to live outside, rather than inside, himself.

Sniper's Bullets Hit Phila. Train

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A sniper's bullets smashed through the windows of three trains of the Market Street elevated line yesterday, terrorizing passengers and causing one man to faint after a slug narrowly missed his head.

A fourth train also was fired upon but the bullet glanced off the side of the car just under the window. Police said the sniper, who hasn't been found, probably was on a roof or in a window at a level with the elevated tracks.

FEARS WRONG IMPRESSION ON IKE'S FUTURE

By EDMOND L. BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) reportedly has told President Eisenhower that if he makes a personal request for "temporary presidency" legislation, people will think he plans to give up active presidential service.

An informed source, who declined to be quoted by name, said today Rayburn told this to Eisenhower yesterday during a White House conference with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders. Eisenhower was said to have replied that he didn't see how such an inference could be drawn.

At this conference, Eisenhower proposed a Constitutional amendment to authorize the Cabinet to decide by majority vote when the Vice President should assume temporarily the duties of a disabled President who was unable or unwilling to make the decision himself.

Strongly Opposed
Rayburn opposed the idea strongly. Other congressional leaders voiced more guarded reactions, but none indicated enthusiasm for the Eisenhower plan.

The Constitution provides that the Vice President shall take over the duties of the President in the event of the President's resignation, ouster, death or disability. But it does not spell out how a decision is to be reached on when a President is disabled, nor who should make the decision.

After Eisenhower's proposal was announced yesterday, Rep. Keating of New York, senior Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, introduced a bill to provide for a commission to pass on whether a President is disabled. Such a commission would be made up of members of Congress, the Cabinet and the Supreme Court.

Difference Of Opinion
There is a difference of opinion over whether the Constitutional gap should be plugged by a bill or by a Constitutional amendment. And there are those who, like Rayburn, feel there is no need for any action.

In view of the wide range of opinions on the question, Democratic leaders were reported to have agreed informally that nothing will be done at this session. However, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said yesterday the matter is of "sufficient importance that the congress may very well act this year on it."

SENATE NOT THROUGH
The council — top command of the 15-million member AFL-CIO — ordered a full scale investigation by the federation's Ethical Practices Committee into charges that Beck has brought "the labor movement into disrepute." This probe also would cover corruption allegations against several other high Teamsters officials, some of whom are under indictment on various charges.

Beck — who did not attend the Council meeting — told a reporter in Seattle "I have nothing to say" about the action against him.

AFL-CIO President George Meany said yesterday Beck has been summoned to a hearing here May 20 to answer "for his actions in bringing the labor movement into disrepute and his failing to explain many charges against him with regard to misuse of union funds."

Beck's suspension from his AFL-CIO posts is effective pending the results of the May 20 hearing. These jobs carry no salary, but do allow for reimbursement for expenses.

Beck ran into opposition yesterday from a top official of the Teamsters Union. John English, secretary-treasurer of the union, said he was against Beck's announced plan for a million dollar publicity campaign.

English said "as long as I am the general secretary-treasurer of the international I will oppose any use of the union's funds for that purpose."

BUILDING AND REPAIR

To Save Water In Garden Learn How It Behaves

Watering the lawn and garden often becomes a difficult problem in summer. In desert areas where water is scarce, scientists have studied ways of using it efficiently.

In their findings are some facts which all gardeners will find helpful. For example, the storage capacity of different kinds of soil. When water is applied to soil it is held as surface film on soil particle. A cubic foot of sand will hold 1/2 gallon of water for plant roots to take up. The same amount of loam will hold one gallon, and of clay 1 1/2 gallons.

An inch of water applied evenly over your lawn or garden area should wet a clay soil to a depth of 5 inches, a good garden loam 10 inches and a sandy soil 15 inches.

Water Near Surface
Note that in all types of soil the water stays near the surface, unless applied in quantities larger than 1-inch. It is on this moisture that plants depend. Rarely is the water table so near the surface that significant quantities of water rise from below to help the plants. Lateral movement also is limited. Moisture does not spread far outward in the soil, but must be applied evenly to the surface in order to cover the area.

Root growth is governed by the depth of moisture. When soil is sprinkled frequently and never gets a good soaking, roots are short. They may be so short as to suffer from drying by evaporation, which affects the top two or three inches of soil. Short roots do not make vigorous plants, and cannot carry plants well through dry periods.

May Upset Schedule

Light rains may upset a watering schedule by wetting the soil only a few inches deep, which stimulates shallow roots. The longer roots may dry out unless sufficient water is added by irrigation to moisten the entire root system. This is the way to insure benefit by light rains.

The ideal irrigation program would be to wet the soil to capacity as far down as roots will go, then apply no more water until the roots have used up half this stored moisture. This might take a week in sandy soil, 10 days in loam, and two to three weeks in clay. Then apply enough water to replace what has been used.

Soak Soil Deeply

When you apply water, soak the soil deeply, and check how deep it goes. You can dig a hole in a border, or between garden rows, which has received its full share of water, and see what conditions are underground. Try this whenever you are in doubt about what is happening to your plant roots. Soil augurs can be bought which will remove a core to any desirable depth.

The wilting of plants gives some clue to their needs for water. On hot, dry days plants may lose water through their leaves faster than the roots can take it from the soil. This temporary deficit may cause plant leaves to wilt, but the next morning the leaves will be restored to their normal moisture content. But when the leaves stay wilted, either the soil is too dry, or there is something wrong with the plant.

Poor drainage which allows so much water to accumulate in the soil that air cannot reach the roots may cause wilting and death, because roots without air cannot take up the water which surrounds them.

THE SECRET'S OUT

BALTIMORE — The winner of the $100,000 Preakness is traditionally draped with a blanket made of black-eyed susans, official Maryland flower. Since "susans" aren't in bloom in spring, however, the blanket is made of yellow daisies with the centers dyed with shoe polish.

In 1731 Benjamin Franklin started the first circulating library, the first fire department and the first police force in the American colonies.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

Here are some tips that may help you in those repair jobs that crop up around the house:

When a window sticks because of hardened paint between the sash and the frame (the most common cause), it can be loosened much easier from the outside than the inside.

When buying new glass to replace a broken window pane, the dimensions given to the dealer should be 1/8 inch less than the width of the sash opening and 1/8 inch less than the length, a necessary allowance for possible contraction of the wooden frame.

When painting screening, keep a toothpick handy to unclog any holes while the paint is still wet. When putting down a new threshold, stagger the nails on either side of the center section of the threshold.

Patching Roof

When painting a wall, start at the top and work downward, but when washing a wall, start at the bottom and work upward.

When painting a ceiling while standing on a scaffold (or plank set between two stepladders), always keep the paint container in back of you so you won't knock it over as you move forward.

When using a plunger, or "plumber's friend," to unclog a sink drain, there must be enough water in the sink to cover the bottom part of the suction cup and form a complete seal.

When rain water is overflowing from a roof gutter at a point where there is no debris, the chances are that a readjustment of one of the gutter brackets will correct the condition.

Select Correct Type

When buying paint remover, get the semi-paste type for out-door surfaces and for indoor upright surfaces; get the liquid type for flat surfaces and other indoor jobs

Do's and Don't's

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

Using An Electric Router

DO . . . use a portable electric router for making grooves, dados, joints, mouldings, inlays and hundreds of intricate designs, as well as for trimming plastic laminates and doing many other jobs with special accessories.

DO . . . guide the router firmly but without excessive pressure, allowing the bit to run freely before touching it to the material.

DO . . . use a straight edge guide, clamped over the work, for making straight cuts across wide boards.

DO . . . get interesting effects by making recessed designs in wood and then filling the recessed area with plastic wood or wood putty of a contrasting color.

When applying patching plaster to a damaged area, fill the gap to about 1/8 inch from the surrounding surface, wait an hour, then add more of the patching material until it is flush with the surface.

When using a drum sander in refinishing a floor, always keep the machine in motion while the drum is in contact with the wood. When calking large gaps around

DON'T . . . make any adjustments to the machine while the electric plug is in the outlet; merely turning off the switch is not sufficient.

DON'T . . . try to make a groove in the narrow edge of a board until you have first clamped another board to it so that the router will ride over it easily without tipping.

DON'T . . . think that the size of the bits limit the width of the grooves and dados that can be cut, since repeated cuts along-side one another will produce any desired width.

DON'T . . . forget that, after regulating the depth adjustment, a trial cut should be made on a piece of scrap wood to be certain that it is set to the desired depth.

CONGRESS WENT RACING

BALTIMORE — The U. S. Congress once adjourned so its members could watch a horse race. It was on Oct. 24, 1877, and the nation's lawmakers went to Pimlico to see the famous three-way match between Parole, Ten Broeck and Tom Ochiltree.

Cary Middlecoff won the 1955 Masters golf tournament by seven strokes. In 1956 he won the U.S. Open crown for the second time.

Dimensions ..... 59' x 36'
(Garage 20' x 6')

Today's Home of the Week, the "Wingate," is a charmingly comfortable looking house that will be "at home" in any location.

The L-shaped arrangement of the house gives it a truly distinctive appearance and at the same time lends itself to a very convenient interior layout. From the moment you step through the front door... which opens on a connecting hallway leading to the living room, and dining room... you can see the careful planning that has gone into the designing of this plan.

Hallways separate and give privacy to every room at the same time as they make the rooms readily accessible. The large number of centrally located closets solve your storage problems. And, placing the bedrooms in the left wing of the house provides the greatest possible degree of privacy and quiet for the sleeping quarters.

Two Large Windows
Large and pleasant, the living room has two large picture windows as well as two regular size windows. A fireplace also helps to make this a very attractive room with many decorative possibilities.

Definitely a work center, the kitchen is compact and well planned with everything you need to carry on your kitchen tasks close at hand. A window in the back wall brings added light and ventilation to the room; the door in the back wall provides ready access to the back yard. This door will prove especially handy when the youngsters are "coming and going" during play sessions. The kitchen window will make it easier for you to keep an eye on them, too.

No breakfast nook is provided in this plan but since the dining room opens directly off the kitchen this presents no inconvenience. This room, too, is well lighted and cheerful; attractive plantings in the stone window box can make it even more so.

Two-Car Garage

Three regular bedrooms are suggested in this plan. Should you need four, you can use the den. All of these rooms feature good lighting and cross ventilation. Each also has ample storage space. The bathroom is placed conveniently near to the sleeping quarters.

From the den there is direct access to the two car garage. The fireplace wall in the garage can serve as support for storage shelves where gardening tools may be placed. There is also a storage closet in the garage where you can keep tools as well as shoes and other clothing you may use to work around the yard. If you have but one car you'll find that the extra garage area will come in handy for storing a wide variety of household equipment.

The laundry and heating equipment must be installed in the basement of the "Wingate." The former should be placed under the kitchen; the latter under the living room. This will leave you with ample basement space for a recreation room, home workshop, etc.

With overall dimensions of 59' x 36' this house is especially well suited to a combination finish. The "Wingate" can be built on approximately an 80' lot.

This design is approved by the VA and FHA. Complete blueprints and specifications of the "Wingate" are available with a money-back guarantee if for any reason the builder decides not to proceed with building plans.

FARM CALENDAR

Preserve Silage — Preservatives for grass silage really pay, according to Joe Taylor, Penn State extension dairy specialist. They save silage values in the feed, improve color and texture of the silage and make the silage more palatable for the animals. These values more than pay for cost of preservatives.

Maintain Fences — Farm fences are farm tools, somewhat like tractors, balers, or combines. To do the job effectively, they have to be maintained and repaired, just like any other farm tool, reminds Ralph Patterson, Penn State extension agricultural engineer. Good fences prevent loss and inconvenience.

Fertilizer for Potatoes — Research on potato fertilizing has shown a wide variation in the relative fertility of soils on different farms. This means, says Elmer Pater, Penn State extension agronomist, that potato growers need a complete soil test on each field where the crop is to be planted.

Protect Plants — Don't use tobacco when working with tomato plants, cautions Allen Bauer, Penn State extension plant pathologist. He explains that most tobacco contains a virus which causes mosaic on tomatoes, as well as on some flowers and other vegetables.

Test Vegetable Seeds — Vegetable seed left over for a year or more should be tested for germination before it is planted in the garden, reminds James Dutt, Penn State extension vegetable specialist. You may use moist blotting paper.

Check Bee Needs — An important spring chore is the checking on all bee hives to see what must be done for the busy bees, says William Clarke, Penn State extension apiculturist.

Soils Need Phosphorus — The greatest limiting factor in Pennsylvania crop production is lack of phosphorus in the soil, says James Eakin, Penn State extension agronomist. He points out that 90 to 95 per cent of the fields in many counties in northern and western Pennsylvania are low in phosphorus.

Control Biting Flies — A new automatic cow sprayer, developed at the Pennsylvania State University, may be the answer to control of biting flies on cattle. Still in the experimental stage, the sprayer promises to be effective and eco-

Using A Portable Belt Sander
DO use a portable belt sander for heavy duty work, especially on large, flat surfaces.
DO allow the belt to gain momentum lower the machine slowly so that the back part of the belt touches first then quickly bring it to a horizontal position as you move it forward.

DO guide the sander back and forth in a sort of stroking motion, applying very little pressure.
DO... when you decide to stop for any reason, lift the sander from the wood to prevent taking off an excessive amount in one spot.

DON'T... turn on the switch while the sander is on the work surface, otherwise it may "run" off onto the floor.

DON'T... push the machine too far over the edges of the surface being sanded, as this will cause the machine to tilt and produce rounded edges.
DON'T... forget to check the alignment of the belt every so often to be sure the abrasive is not rubbing against the frame; every belt sander has a screw arrangement to keep the belt running in a straight line.

DON'T... use a belt sander on thin veneer, as it is a power-plus machine that might cut through the surface before you realize it.
Henry Burden, a Scottish immigrant who invented the plough and cultivator, also designed the machine which turned out horse-scoops at the rate of 60 per minute for the Union armies in the Civil War.

BUILDING AND REPAIR

To Save Water In Garden Learn How It Behaves

Watering the lawn and garden often becomes a difficult problem in summer. In desert areas where water is scarce, scientists have studied ways of using it efficiently.

In their findings are some facts which all gardeners will find helpful. For example, the storage capacity of different kinds of soil. When water is applied to soil it is held as surface film on soil particle. A cubic foot of sand will hold 1 1/2 gallons of water for plant roots to take up. The same amount of loam will hold one gallon, and of clay 1 1/2 gallons.

An inch of water applied evenly over your lawn or garden area should wet a clay soil to a depth of 5 inches, a good garden loam 10 inches and a sandy soil 15 inches.

Water Near Surface
Note that in all types of soil the water stays near the surface, unless applied in quantities larger than 1-inch. It is on this moisture that plants depend. Rarely is the water table so near the surface that significant quantities of water rise from below to help the plants. Lateral movement also is limited. Moisture does not spread far outward in the soil, but must be applied evenly to the surface in order to cover the area.

Root growth is governed by the depth of moisture. When soil is sprinkled frequently and never gets a good soaking, roots are short. They may be so short as to suffer from drying by evaporation, which affects the top two or three inches of soil. Short roots do not make vigorous plants, and cannot carry plants well through dry periods.

May Upset Schedule
Light rains may upset a watering schedule by wetting the soil only a few inches deep, which stimulates shallow roots. The longer roots may dry out unless sufficient water is added by irrigation to moisten the entire root system. This is the way to insure benefit by light rains.

The ideal irrigation program would be to wet the soil to capacity as far down as roots will go, then apply no more water until the roots have used up half this stored moisture. This might take a week in sandy soil, 10 days in loam, and two to three weeks in clay. Then apply enough water to replace what has been used.

Soak Soil Deeply
When you apply water, soak the soil deeply, and check how deep it goes. You can dig a hole in a border, or between garden rows, which has received its full share of water, and see what conditions are underground. Try this whenever you are in doubt about what is happening to your plant roots. Soil augurs can be bought which will remove a core to any desirable depth.

The wilting of plants gives some clue to their needs for water. On hot, dry days plants may lose water through their leaves faster than the roots can take it from the soil. This temporary deficit may cause plant leaves to wilt, but the next morning the leaves will be restored to their normal moisture content. But when the leaves stay wilted, either the soil is too dry, or there is something wrong with the plant.

Poor drainage which allows so much water to accumulate in the soil that air cannot reach the roots may cause wilting and death, because roots without air cannot take up the water which surrounds them.

THE SECRET'S OUT

BALTIMORE — The winner of the $100,000 Preakness is traditionally draped with a blanket made of black-eyed susans, official Maryland flower. Since "susans" aren't in bloom in spring, however, the blanket is made of yellow daisies with the centers dyed with shoe polish.

In 1731 Benjamin Franklin started the first circulating library, the first fire department and the first police force in the American colonies.

ON THE HOUSE

By ANDREW C. LANG

The Associated Press

Here are some tips that may help you in those repair jobs that crop up around the house:

When a window sticks because of hardened paint between the sash and the frame (the most common cause,) it can be loosened much easier from the outside than the inside.

When buying new glass to replace a broken window pane, the dimensions given to the dealer should be 1/8 inch less than the width of the sash opening and 1/8 inch less than the length, a necessary allowance for possible contraction of the wooden frame.

When painting screening, keep a toothpick handy to unclog any holes while the paint is still wet.

When putting down a new threshold, stagger the nails on either side of the center section of the threshold.

Patching Roof

When painting a wall, start at the top and work downward, but when washing a wall, start at the bottom and work upward.

When painting a ceiling while standing on a scaffold (or plank set between two stepladders,) always keep the paint container in back of you so you won't knock it over as you move forward.

When using a plunger, or "plumber's friend," to unclog a sink drain, there must be enough water in the sink to cover the bottom part of the suction cup and form a complete seal.

When rain water is overflowing from a roof gutter at a point where there is no debris, the chances are that a readjustment of one of the gutter brackets will correct the condition.

Select Correct Type

When buying paint remover, get the semi-paste type for out-door surfaces and for indoor upright surfaces; get the liquid type for flat surfaces and other indoor jobs where the remover will not run.

When a drawer is inclined to stick, prevent it from becoming completely useless by rubbing the sliding parts with paraffin or one of the special preparations made for this purpose.

When breaking a flagstone with a cold chisel and a hammer, always work from the center of the stone toward the edges.

When replacing an old brick with a new one soak the new brick thoroughly in a pail of water before putting it in the opening, which should also be drenched with water.

When applying patching plaster to a damaged area, fill the gap to about 1/4 inch from the surrounding surface, wait an hour, then add more of the patching material until it is flush with the surface.

About Sanding

When using a drum sander in refinishing a floor, always keep the machine in motion while the drum is in contact with the wood.

When caulking large gaps around

Do's and Don'ts

By ANDREW C. LANG

The Associated Press

Using An Electric Router

DO . . . use a portable electric router for making grooves, dados, joints, mouldings, inlays and hundreds of intricate designs, as well as for trimming plastic laminates and doing many other jobs with special accessories.

DO . . . guide the router firmly but without excessive pressure, allowing the bit to run freely before touching it to the material.

DO . . . use a straight edge guide, clamped over the work, for making straight cuts across wide boards.

DO . . . get interesting effects by making recessed designs in wood and then filling the recessed area with plastic wood or wood putty of a contrasting color.

a window frame, pack coarse hemp or oakum or aluminum foil into the openings before applying the calking compound.

When a paint job develops a wrinkly appearance within a few days after the paint was applied, it is likely that too heavy a coat was put on.

DON'T . . . make any adjustments to the machine while the electric plug is in the outlet; merely turning off the switch is not sufficient.

DON'T . . . try to make a groove in the narrow edge of a board until you have first clamped another board to it so that the router will ride over it easily without tipping.

DON'T . . . think that the size of the bits limit the width of the grooves and dados that can be cut, since repeated cuts along-side one another will produce any desired width.

DON'T . . . forget that, after regulating the depth adjustment, a trial cut should be made on a piece of scrap wood to be certain that it is set to the desired depth.

CONGRESS WENT RACING

BALTIMORE — The U. S. Congress once adjourned so its members could watch a horse race. It was on Oct. 24, 1877, and the nation's lawmakers went to Pimlico to see the famous three-way match between Parole, Ten Broeck and Tom Ochiltree.

Cary Middlecoff won the 1955 Masters golf tournament by seven strokes. In 1956 he won the U.S. Open crown for the second time.

Here's How To Help Seed Grow In Good Hot Weather

Most amateurs have small difficulty in growing plants from seed in cool, moist, spring weather. But in the hot, dry weather of summer it is often a different story.

There is no reason to fail with hot weather sowing if a few precautions are taken, but careful methods which are successful in the spring may fail.

Soil conditioning experiments, following the introduction of chemical conditioners, have focused attention upon the top inch of garden soil. Rain and sun beat down upon it and if it contains much clay a few hours' sunshine on damp soil will bake it into a hard crust which neither air nor water can easily penetrate.

Prepare Special Soil
The easiest way to avoid this is to prepare a special soil with which to cover seeds in hot weather. The quantity needed is relatively small. It should contain no clay whatever, and at least one-half organic matter such as peat moss or compost, the other half sharp sand. Use it to cover all seed after June 1.

Practically all late sowing can be done in drills (shallow trenches) and these should be made two or three inches deep. The next step is to fill the drill with water several times, so the ground is soaked deeply. Sow seed on top of the damp soil and cover it with your special soil. This in turn should be soaked. It will hold moisture well and cannot form a crust. It may be necessary to sprinkle it daily to prevent the seed drying out. High temperatures combined with abundant moisture will speed germination so your seeds should soon emerge from underground.

Sprinkle Soil Frequently
Until the seedling plants have begun to grow and become established, the soil should be sprinkled frequently. This is the only time when light and frequent sprinkling is advisable in the garden. Throughout the summer it will be necessary to make sure that the garden receives at least 1 inch of water a week, either from rain or from the hose. All late sown crops should be fed with balanced commercial plant food applied before sowing by the placement method, in shallow trenches 3 or 4 inches away from the drill on both sides, where the roots will reach it when they grow long enough.

Survey Shows Women Initiate 79 Pct. Of The Do-It-Yourself Projects And Most Of The Work

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

A lady has a complaint. "Why is it," she writes, "that whenever you talk about home repair projects, you direct your remarks to what you call the family handyman? I don't mean you alone. . . I mean everybody (at least, all men) who write about these things. Maybe there are some men who fix and make things around the house, but as far as I am concerned, and my friends agree with me, it's the women who are the do-it-yourselfers. I decided a long time ago . . . and so did my friends . . . that it's a lot easier to fix something than to keep waiting for the men of the house to do it at their convenience."

Motivating Force

That's what the lady said — in part. And she enclosed a clipping to back up her argument. The brief item told about a survey undertaken by the research department of a company that manufactures plywood. The results of the survey showed that 79 per cent of the do-it-yourself projects are initiated by women. It showed further that, once the projects are decided on, the women do the actual work 41 per cent of the time, and men do it 37 per cent of the time, with the remaining 22 per cent being family endeavors.

In other words, the husband who became a hero when he changed a faucet washer is passe. The wife either fixes the faucet herself or shows her husband how to do it. Flown now on, when we refer to handymen . . . we really will mean handymen.

The Department Of Inquiry

Question: We have what we consider a fine house except for one thing. It is unbearably hot during the night in the summer months. We've head about attic fans and how they help to cool a house. Could you tell us whether they are practical?

Answer: You have not given enough particulars about the kind of attic, the design and size of the house and many other factors that determine, to a degree, how effectively an attic fan will work. Generally, an attic fan, of the proper size and properly installed, can do much towards cooling an entire house during the night. The principle is this: the warm air in the lower part of the house rises naturally. It is sucked in by the fan and driven out of the attic. The warm air is displaced by cooler night air, making more satisfactory sleeping conditions. It might not seem that this process would take place quickly enough to make any appreciable difference in the temperature, but the proper attic fan can change the air in the average-size house once every minute or two minutes.

Question: I have a set of outdoor wicker furniture which I plan to paint in another month or two. I remember that the last time I did it, I had a difficult time getting the bristles of the brush into all the openings. I'd like to try my hand at spraying this time, but don't want to buy expensive equipment. Will the small sprayers do the job properly?

Answer: For that kind of work, the small, inexpensive sprayers will be fully satisfactory. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions on how to thin the paint, as too thick a mixture will cause clogging and too thin a mixture will cause the paint to run. Do the spraying outdoors and keep the furniture on a covered bench or table while spraying. If a chair, for instance, is sprayed while it is resting on the ground, the air pressure from the sprayer will disturb the out on the ground and spoil the result.

SO YOU DON'T BELIEVE IN MIRACLES?

Neither do we. We only make it seem like a miracle. Hair science has advanced beyond the "tonic" age. Now it is possible for a trained trichologist to correct dandruff and other scalp disorders, prevent baldness, grow thicker, healthier hair. If examination by Geo. W. Leishear experts show that your hair and scalp can be helped and treatments are started, you won't have to wait long to see definite results.

INSURE YOUR HAIR FOR LIFE!

It's the Best Buy, Dollar for Dollar, on the Market!

1. Have your scalp examined by a Geo. W. Leishear and Associates trichologist.
2. Take treatment—if a Leishear trichologist advises it—till your scalp is growing healthy new hair.
3. After treatment ends, follow the simple rules of scalp hygiene taught by our trichologist.
4. Come back to the clinic for a free check-up, without charge, three times a year.

— COSTS —

Total costs will depend on the number of treatments necessary to correct scalp, disorder, which can be determined by examination. Charges are reasonable. Sure! ## CUT IN DOWN PAYMENTS TO AID BUILDING

By STEPHEN F. GREEN
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Builders and housing officials were cheered today by President Eisenhower's restoration of 5 per cent down payments on home purchases financed by government-insured mortgages.

But they predicted stronger medicine will be needed to cure the housing slump of the past 18 months.

Eisenhower yesterday ordered the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) to cut the down payment from 7 to 5 per cent on the first $9,000 of the value of a new or old home bought with an FHA-insured mortgage, and from 27 to 25 per cent on the balance up to $20,000.

May Ease Credit
 He also moved to relax a restriction on home mortgages by savings and loan associations.

Meanwhile, support was building up in Congress for further easing of home buying credit.

Shortly before the announcement, a House Banking Subcommittee approved an omnibus housing bill which would ease home buying terms even more, and provide an additional 2 1/2 billion dollars worth of potential new government assistance.

Trend Has Changed
 FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason, recalling that the higher terms were imposed in July 1955 to "help curb an inflationary trend," said in a statement: "The administration believes that trend has been halted and there is now a need to spur home construction."

Albert M. Cole, chief of the Housing and Home Finance Agency (HHFA), predicted cautiously the action "would stimulate home building to some degree" by bringing many families of limited income to the housing market.

The National Assn. of Home Builders said the reduction could not perk up home building appreciably unless it is supplemented by new credit-stimulating legislation.

Here's How To Help Seed Grow In Good Hot Weather

Most amateurs have small difficulty in growing plants from seed in cool, moist, spring weather. But in the hot, dry weather of summer it is often a different story.

There is no reason to fail with hot weather sowing if a few precautions are taken, but careless methods which are successful in the spring may fail.

Soil conditioning experiments, following the introduction of chemical conditioners, have focused attention upon the top inch of garden soil. Rain and sun beat down upon it and if it contains much clay a few hours' sunshine on damp soil will bake it into a hard crust which neither air nor water can easily penetrate.

Prepare Special Soil
The easiest way to avoid this is to prepare a special soil with which to cover seeds in hot weather. The quantity needed is relatively small. It should contain no clay whatever, and at least one-half organic matter such as peat moss or compost, the other half sharp sand. Use it to cover all seed after June 1.

Practically all late sowing can be done in drills (shallow trenches) and these should be made two or three inches deep. The next step is to fill the drill with water several times, so the ground is soaked deeply. Sow seed on top of the damp soil and cover it with your special soil. This in turn should be soaked. It will hold moisture well and cannot form a crust. It may be necessary to sprinkle it daily to prevent the seed drying out. High temperatures combined with abundant moisture will speed germination so your seeds should soon emerge from underground.

Sprinkle Soil Frequently
Until the seedling plants have begun to grow and become established, the soil should be sprinkled frequently. This is the only time when light and frequent sprinkling is advisable in the garden. Throughout the summer it will be necessary to make sure that the garden receives at least 1 inch of water a week, either from rain or from the hose. All late sown crops should be fed with balanced commercial plant food applied before sowing by the placement method, in shallow trenches 3 or 4 inches away from the drill on both sides, where the roots will reach it when they grow long enough.

Survey Shows Women Initiate 79 Pct. Of The Do-It-Yourself Projects And Most Of The Work

By ANDREW C. LANG
The Associated Press

A lady has a complaint. "Why is it," she writes, "that whenever you talk about home repair projects, you direct your remarks to what you call the family handyman? I don't mean you alone. . . I mean everybody (at least, all men) who write about these things. Maybe there are some men who fix and make things around the house, but as far as I am concerned, and my friends agree with me, it's the women who are the do-it-yourselfers. I decided a long time ago . . . and so did my friends . . . that it's a lot easier to fix something than to keep waiting for the men of the house to do it at their convenience."

Motivating Force

That's what the lady said — in part. And she enclosed a clipping to back up her argument. The brief item told about a survey undertaken by the research department of a company that manufactures plywood. The results of the survey showed that 79 per cent of the do-it-yourself projects are initiated by women. It showed further that, once the projects are decided on, women do the actual work 41 per cent of the time, and men do it 37 per cent of the time, with the remaining 22 per cent being family endeavors.

In other words, the husband who became a hero when he changed a faucet washer is passe. The wife either fixes the faucet herself or shows her husband how to do it. From now on, when we refer to handymen . . . we really will mean handymen.

The Department Of Inquiry

Question: We have what we consider a fine house except for one thing. It is unbearably hot during the night in the summer months. We've heard about attic fans and how they help to cool a house. Could you tell us whether they are practical?

Answer: You have not given enough particulars about the kind of attic, the design and size of the house and many other factors that determine, to a degree, how effectively an attic fan will work. Generally, an attic fan, of the proper size and properly installed, can do much towards cooling an entire house during the night. The principle is this: the warm air in the lower part of the house rises naturally. It is sucked in by the fan and driven out of the attic. The warm air is displaced by cooler night air, making more satisfactory sleeping conditions. It might not seem that this process would take place quickly enough to make any appreciable difference in the temperature, but the proper attic fan can change the air in the average-size house once every minute or two minutes.

Question: I have a set of outdoor wicker furniture which I plan to paint in another month or two. I remember that the last time I did it, I had a difficult time getting the bristles of the brush into all the openings. I'd like to try my hand at spraying this time, but don't want to buy expensive equipment. Will the small sprayers do the job properly?

Answer: For that kind of work, the small, inexpensive sprayers will be fully satisfactory. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions on how to thin the paint, as too thick a mixture will cause clogging and too thin a mixture will cause the paint to run. Do the spraying outdoors and keep the furniture on a covered bench or table while spraying. If a chair, for instance, is sprayed while it is resting on the ground, the air pressure from the sprayer will disturb the out on the ground and spoil the result.

'OLD AND WEARY' RAILROAD DIES AT AGE OF 80

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York, Ontario and Western Railway died at midnight last night at the age of 80 after a lingering bankruptcy.

The cause of death: Her income couldn't catch up with her outgo. Right to the end the mourners thought the little "Old and Weary" railroad would somehow recover. At the bedside was as staggering an array of creditors as any 341-mile line ever had. Bigger railroads would have gulped at her 100 million dollar pile of debts. She fought to the end.

The New York State Civil Defense Commission yesterday reaffirmed its previous ruling that the road was not essential to civil defense. New York Gov. Averell

Harrison had signed a special bill designed to enable the commission to operate the road. Even as late as last night, 10 Republican members of the State Legislature sent a telegram to the commission asking it to take over the line "in accord with the mandate of the people" and the Legislature.

The facts about her are quickly told: She ran from Oswego, N.Y., at the eastern end of Lake Ontario down to New York Harbor, with a few spur lines, among them one to the hard coal fields around Scranton, Pa. The Midwest freight that she was built to handle from the lakes, back in the days of the bustle and the hat pin, died away. The hard coal business died away. Finally, she died too, 20 years after she went broke.

The odds against her survival may have endeared her to her bondholders who hadn't had a cent since 1935; to her 1000-odd employees who worked for lower wages; to the government which lent her money to buy new locomotives; to the banks which took pawn tickets on them.

"FOREIGN LADY" REPORTED SEEN WITH BANDITS

By PARVIS RAEIN

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A U. S. embassy spokesman said today police searching for a kidnapped American woman have reported finding a witness who claimed to have seen a "foreign lady" traveling with a bandit gang toward the Iran-Pakistan border.

The spokesman disclosed the witness report in denying rumors that Mrs. Anita Carroll of Issaquah, Wash., had been abandoned by her captors. She was seized last Sunday after an outlaw band in wild southeast Iran killed her husband, another American and two Iranians.

"Gendarmes searching for the missing American lady have reported coming across a witness who claimed to have seen a foreign lady on a mule traveling with bandits in the desert toward the southeast Iran-Pakistan border," the embassy spokesman said. He added that the woman was reported traveling among the women and children in the group. The embassy statement came shortly after the Iranian government announced it would let Mrs. Carroll's kidnappers go unpunished if they free her unharm. The amnesty offer was coupled with a U. S. embassy announcement that it was prepared to pay any amount of ransom for the release of the pretty 35-year-old woman. # 'OLD AND WEARY' RAILROAD DIES AT AGE OF 80

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York, Ontario and Western Railway died at midnight last night at the age of 80 after a lingering bankruptcy.

The cause of death: Her income couldn't catch up with her outgo. Right to the end the mourners thought the little "Old and Weary" railroad would somehow recover. At the bedside was as staggering an array of creditors as any 541-mile line ever had. Bigger railroads would have gulped at her 100 million dollar pile of debts. She fought to the end.

The New York State Civil Defense Commission yesterday reaffirmed its previous ruling that the road was not essential to civil defense. New York Gov. Averell

Farriman had signed a 'special bill designed to enable the commission to operate the road. Even as late as last night, 10 Republican members of the State Legislature sent a telegram to the commission asking it to take over the line "in accord with the mandate of the people" and the Legislature.

The facts about her are quickly told: She ran from Oswego, N.Y., at the eastern end of Lake Ontario down to New York Harbor, with a few spur lines, among them one to the hard coal fields around Scranton, Pa. The Midwest freight that she was built to handle from the lakes, back in the days of the bustle and the hat pin, died away. The hard coal business died away. Finally, she died too, 20 years after she went broke.

The odds against her survival may have endeared her to her bondholders who hadn't had a cent since 1935; to her 1000-odd employees who worked for lower wages; to the government which lent her money to buy new locomotives; to the banks which took pawn tickets on them.
